Guardsmen called; hundreds homeless Lake storm loss heavy

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some of the hundreds of persons forced from their homes by flooding along the western shore of Lake Erie were making plans to return today.

The National Weather Service said flooding conditions ended as water that had been piled up by strong winds continued to recede.

Hardest hit by the storm that battered the coast for 24 hours was the Port Clinton area, where Ohio National Guardsmen patrolled a 15-mile stretch of shoreline today.

The Ottawa County Sheriff's Department said passes were being issued to some of the evacuees to return to their homes as mopup operations began.

A steady rain changed to snow and the winds began to diminish Tuesday evening. The snow was reduced to periodic flurries along the coastline by Wednesday morning.

Estimates of damage along the lake shore from Cuyahoga County west to Toledo ran at more than a million dollars. Officials in the Port Clinton area were making a helicopter tour today to survey the flood damage.

Hundreds of people were evacuated Tuesday, most of them in the Port Clinton area, as the wind-driven waves spilled up on the land, but the Coast Guard said it had received no reports of injuries or deaths.

Officials in Port Clinton said the several hundred people forced from their lakeshore homes had been put up in makeshift emergency centers, in private homes and in Red Cross centers in Toledo.

Officials said it might be several days before the residents could return to their homes. Meanwhile, the Guardsmen, ordered in by Gov. John Gilligan, set up patrols and curfews to prevent looters from entering the area.

There were no reports of trouble. The National Weather Service said a wind change, from northeasterly to westerly, early Tuesday evening probably helped slow the storm.

The Coast Guard said it anticipated the storm would turn with the winds and move its strength to the southeastern corner of the lake, but the threat never materialized.

Toledo officials estimated that 900 families were evacuated from homes in shore areas, with many of them taken to Red Cross shelters.

The Red Cross reported it had distributed "tons" of food and had purchased clothing and items of all types for the men, women and children gathered at shelters.

At one shelter in Point Place, more than 500 persons were assisted, the Red Cross said.

Toledo Mayor Harry Kessler indicated he expected Gov. Gilligan to declare stricken sections a disaster area. He said the city was able to feed, clothe and house refugees, but he also was interested in finding funds for other assistance and rehabilitation.

Spokesmen for the Coast Guard's Fairport Harbor station said "several families" were evacuated by police and firemen in Eastlake in Lake County late Tuesday afternoon, but that waters were beginning to recede by late Tuesday night.

Ottawa County, where schools were closed today and the buildings used to house the 350 Guardsmen providing disaster aid, was the hardest hit along the shoreline.

Coast Guard spokesmen said a helicopter from the Detroit Air Station and a skiff from the Marblehead Station rescued 52 people stranded by flood waters in homes along the beach.

The National Guard and law enforcement agencies in the area evacuated "several hundred" more, although a firm count was not available, sources in Port Clinton reported.

Propane tanks broke loose from some of the houses and were floating in pools of water in some areas of Port Clinton.

An underground gasoline tank in downtown Port Clinton ruptured Tuesday evening, and firemen evacuated an eightblock area until that leak was plugged.

Gale warnings were posted today from Eastport, Maine, to New Jersey, with small-craft warnings flying as far south as Savannah, Ga. Gale warnings were also up along Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

As the storm that struck the lower Great Lakes moved east late Tuesday it left snow accumulations of 13 inches at Mt. Washington, N.H.; 11 inches at Albany, N.Y.; 9 inches at Portland, Maine, and 7 inches at Buffalo, Rochester and Utica, N.Y.

Ohio solons get look at Demo leadership

By PERRY SMITH

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican-controlled 199th General Assembly convened here Tuesday and got a quick birds' eye view of how it may be in the Democratic-controlled 110th, which opens Jan. 1.

In a surprise move, Senate Minority Leader Anthony Calabrese, D-22, Cleveland, headed off a rumored attack on his leadership position by calling for a vote for his re-election.

Calabrese had quietly summoned new Democratic Senate members of the next session to a noon caucus. He told newsmen the idea was to head off any challenges before they seriously developed.

"I don't believe in waiting until the opposition has its tanks moving," said Calabrese. Calabrese was expected to receive opposition from Senator Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, or Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron.

Both houses of the legislature, after the one-day session, adjourned until Nov. 27, when skeleton sessions will be held. Floor action begins the following day.

A state lottery will be among items to be considered by the "lame duck" legislature when it convenes. Leaders of the lottery proposal said they hope to have it on the ballot next May.

The legislature passed a similar proposal earlier in the current session, but it was ruled off the ballot by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Democrats will control the House for the first time since 1958 by a 58-41 margin in the 110th General Assembly. Republicans will control the Senate by a possible 17-16 margin, with one seat still in doubt, based upon a vote recount.

Both political parties held caucuses

Tuesday, with most of the activity in the Democratic closed-door session. Several Republicans left early from the GOP Senate caucus called by Majority Leader Theodore Gray, R-3 Piqua.

"They started talking like they were in the majority," said Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown. "When they started that stuff, I figured it was time to get out."

Republicans announced that they will meet Friday to elect their minority leaders for the new General Assembly. Outgoing House Speaker Charles Kurfess, R-4 Perrysburg, will have opposition for the minority leader's post in the new legislature.

Rep. Charles Fry, R-9 Springfield, a former state senator, has already announced as an opponent. Others are expected to be in the fray including Rep. John Bechtold, R-65 Cincinnati.

Democrats in the House will meet early next week to elect Rep. A. G. Lancione, D-30 Bellaire, as speaker. Lancione is the current House minority leader. He will be beginning his 14th term in the lower chamber in January.

Among bills introduced Tuesday were ones that would:

—Make the death sentence mandatory for the murder of a law enforcement official.

—Place a ceiling on the amount of income which could be required for property taxes, providing a refund for that which exceeds 4 per cent of a property owner's income.

—Require financial disclosure of legislators and legislative candidates and establish a legislative information office plus set campaign spending limits for candidates.

—Allow the burning of trash and minor rubbish by homeowners to be exempted from Ohio's anti-pollution statutes.

Boy, 3, dies of starvation; had no food for 3 months

MIAMI (AP) — A 3-year-old boy whose mother told police he lived on chocolate milk for three months after her husband ordered her not to feed him is dead of starvation. The boy's father is charged with manslaughter.

Variety Children's Hospital authorities said little Dean Nozza was dead when his father, Michael Nozza, brought him to the hospital Monday night.

Nozza was charged with manslaughter Tuesday after Lois Jean Nozza told police her husband ordered her not to feed the child. She said her son had not eaten solid food for three months, that his only sustenance had been chocolate milk.

Authorities said they did not know why Dean had not been fed.

Nozza, 41, and his 28-year-old wife have five other children.

"She said her husband wouldn't allow her to take the boy to the hospital, and said she was afraid he would beat her and the other children if she did," Dade County Sheriff's Lt. John Esty said.

Police said Nozza, a sandblaster, "didn't allow the child to be taken to a hospital because he was afraid he would be arrested for child abuse."

Nozza told the hospital staff that Dean "would not drink anything except chocolate milk" and had not eaten for several weeks, Dr. Robert Lawson, Variety's chief of staff, said Tuesday.

Lawson said Dean "was brought in here dead with evidence of extreme malnutrition." However, he said the admitting physician saw no signs of bruises or fractures on the child.

Police records show the Nozzas were investigated in 1969 after authorities received a complaint of child malnutrition. That incident involved another child, police said.

Walkout ends

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The five week strike of cameramen and engineers at four Avco Broadcasting stations in Ohio and Indiana was ended Tuesday night with ratification of a new contract.

The stations involved were WLW radio and TV in Cincinnati, WLW-C in Columbus, Ohio, WLW-D in Dayton, Ohio, and WLW-I in Indianapolis, Ind.

A new storm in the West brought heavy-snow warnings for parts of the Rocky Mountain region, including northwestern Colorado, southwestern Wyoming and the central mountains of Arizona.

Rain continued from central California into the central intermountain region, with snow at higher elevations and in the southern plateau region.

Good weather was confined mostly to the southern Atlantic Coast states, the southern Rocky Mountain region and the Pacific Northwest. The Northern Plains had partly cloudy skies.

Planes pound North Vietnam Panhandle area

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes gave North Vietnam's southern panhandle its hardest pounding in months Tuesday and today, hitting at the supply buildup there with more than 300 fighter-bomber strikes and more than 30 B52 missions.

It was the largest number of fighter-bomber strikes against North Vietnam in a 24-hour period since Oct. 14. But the 320 strikes flown then were spread over much of the country, while those on Tuesday were concentrated in the southern third because of the suspension on Oct. 22 of bombing above the 20th parallel.

The escalation of air attacks on the panhandle began Nov. 9 and in six days U.S. fighterbombers have made more than 1,290 strikes in the region, an average of more than 200 a day.

"This is to let North Vietnam know that as long as the war is not over, as long as it has troops in the South, we're not going to hold back," said one American official.

Officials said North Vietnam is making a "substantial" supply push southward through the panhandle to stockpile material for its divisions in the South before a cease-fire, and U.S. bombers are making "a greater response."

Viet supply buildup near completion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the United States has turned over more than 600 planes and helicopters to the South Vietnamese Air Force in its effort to build up the force before a cease-fire.

These sources report the rush buildup of South Vietnam's military equipment, principally for its air force, is just about complete.

That speedup was set in motion late last month, shortly after it was disclosed by both North Vietnam and the United States that a tentative ceasefire agreement would, among other things, bar introduction of military gear on either side except as replacements.

The North Vietnamese also were reported gearing up an effort to push more equipment and materiel to the Communist forces in South Vietnam before a cease-fire.

Pentagon officials said the more than 600 additions bring the South Vietnamese air force to nearly 1,850 aircraft and helicopters.

This is short of Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's goal, which had contemplated a force of about 2,100 by the end of next year, if the war continued without a cease-fire.

But the South Vietnamese air force still will be one of the biggest in the world.

Until it became the center of the legal storm over mayor's courts, Monroeville was known only for one little item of history.

Farm awards slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Walter Bluck of Hilliard in Franklin County and Max Scarff of New Carlisle in Clark County will be recognized for "outstanding service to agriculture" during the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's three-day, 54th annual meeting starting today.

MONROEVILLE, Ohio (AP)—This Huron County village is noted for two things—an historic octagonal house and the death of Ohio's hundreds of mayor's courts.

The U.S. Supreme Court rang the bell on the mayor's courts Tuesday in the case of trucker Clarence Ward, who fought being fined $100 on charges he refused to show a license and failed to stop his truck at a police checkpoint.

It invalidated the 132-year-old law that set up mayor's courts and barred mayors from sitting as judges when fines collected upon conviction are a major source of village revenue.

Mayor Thomas Bergman of Monroeville said: "I think they made a mistake in making fines the central issue, I think far more important is that traffic violators are going to be inconvenienced having to go to county or municipal courts."

The Ohio Municipal League was surprised. "We thought a much more important issue was the fact that a mayor, head of law enforcement in his town, would sit in judgment on arrests," said John Coleman. "We're surprised."

The ruling put in limbo an estimated 500 to 600 mayor's courts around Ohio, which since 1840 have been administering ready justice on misdemeanors in their small towns. Mostly the courts are located in villages like Monroeville, which has a population of 1,500.

But, several cities over 5,000 have mayor's courts—including Upper Arlington, Worthington and Whitehall, suburbs of Columbus.

Over the years mayor's courts gained a reputation for speed traps. "It doesn't matter, I guess," said Coleman. "that only a few such speed traps actually existed. You have one and all are suspect."

"Our attorney figured we had a 50-50 chance," said Mayor Bergman. "From some recent decisions, he said we might lose. Mayor's court is set up for Thursday night. I don't know what will happen, whether we have to wait for the official opinion from the Supreme Court or not."

There was considerable suspicion around Monroeville that Mayor Bergman would hold court anyway.

"If we can't have mayor's court we'll have to take traffic violators to county court in Norwalk. That's five miles away, and since mayor's courts often are held at night or Saturday, it's inevitable that the violators will be inconvenienced."

Finances were not the problem as Mayor Bergman saw it. In 1971, traffic fines and costs amounted in Monroeville to $16,000 of a total village income of $56,000.

"The fines will come back down to us from county court," said the 29-year-old mayor.

The Ohio Municipal League is studying what can be done. "They might make mayors appointees of the county or municipal courts, or an attorney so that he would be a judge, in effect," said Coleman. "I just don't know."

The answer seemed to rest with the Ohio General Assembly.

Tax sharing 'return' seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — State and local governments are expected to increase investments in U.S. savings bonds and Treasury bills with the first portions of their federal revenue-sharing money.

Treasury Department officials say there is nothing in the law to prevent state and local governments from, in effect, lending the money back to the federal government at interest through the purchase of federal securities.

Nor does the Treasury have an idea of how much the long-term interest rates on such securities will cost taxpayers. But at least one economic expert says the situation may lead to reduced interest rates for all borrowers.

The Treasury will mail $5.3 billion to state and local governments during December and January as the first allocation under the revenue-sharing plan approved by the 92nd Congress.

A Treasury spokesman said Tuesday that because the first shares are so large—representing money due through the program retroactive to last Jan. 1—there is an "initial investment probability" in federal securities.

Officials believe that the investments will stop once the shares get smaller and the money has been allocated for specific state and local programs.

Dr. Murray Weidenbaum, a former assistant Treasury secretary who was in charge of planning the Nixon administration's revenue-sharing program, says the extra investments in federal securities will put downward pressure on interest rates next year.

Heitzler case hearing held

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A spokesman for the Cincinnati Bar Association accused Hamilton County Domestic Relations Judge George S. Heitzler of violating at least seven of the canons of ethics for lawyers in a session before the Ohio Supreme Court today.

The court heard oral arguments on the Cincinnati Bar Association's attempt to have Heitzler suspended from the practice of law and thus removed from his judge's post.

The Supreme Court did not give a decision in the case and there was no indication when one would be given.

The high court's board of grievances and discipline recommended Heitzler's suspension on grounds of misconduct.

Attorney R. O. Klausmeyer, representing the Cincinnati Bar Association, contended that Heitzler, while a municipal judge, signed orders in 350 cases involving a Newport, Ky., loan firm of which he was a director.

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Martin Dies Sr., who hunted subversives in government during seven stormy years as the first chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, is dead at 71.

His death Tuesday night was attributed to an apparent heart attack. Dies first suffered such an attack five years ago.

The burly, blond, cigar-smoking Texan spent more than two decades in Congress, and during that period he voted against all foreign aid bills.

Since his retirement in 1958, Dies had stayed largely out of public view, although he was often called upon to speak at meetings of patriotic tone.

Apollo 17 crew starts isolation

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 17 astronauts begin three weeks of preflight medical isolation today while launch crews start the final major rocket and spaceship tests for a Dec. 6 blastoff to the moon.

The isolation, in which the astronauts' movements and contacts are restricted, is to minimize exposure to disease or illness that could delay the last mission in the Apollo series.

Early today the launch crew began a week-long rehearsal duplicating every phase of the final countdown starting Nov. 30. The initial part of the test is to end next Monday with a simulated liftoff at 9:53 p.m. EST, the departure time on launch day.

Next Tuesday, with fuel drained from the rocket as a safety measure, Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans will board their command ship to run through the final 2½ hours of the countdown.

Starting today the astronauts and their backup crew are restricted to three areas at the Kennedy Space Center—the crew living quarters, the training building and the launch pad.

Court frees GI in fragging case

FT. ORD, CALIF. (AP) — Billy Dean Smith, free after being cleared of murder charges in the first "fragging" court-martial conducted in the United States, says he is "just lucky to be here."

The 24-year-old black from the Watts district of Los Angeles explained, "If the trial had been held in Vietnam, something would have happened very bad."

"Not everybody is lucky enough to have a trial," he told newsmen after his acquittal here Tuesday.

A military jury of two black and five white officers deliberated for five hours before finding Smith innocent of two charges each of murder and attempted murder and one charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm.

All stemmed from a fragmentation grenade blast at Bien Hoa Air Base in Vietnam that killed 1st Lt. Thomas A. Dellwo of Chateau, Mont., and 2nd Lt. Richard Harlan of Dallas, Tex., and wounded 1st Lt. Peter B. Higgins of Harrison, N.J., on March 15, 1971.

Dellwo died on the day he was scheduled to leave Vietnam.

The jury did convict Smith of assaulting a military policeman who arrested him shortly after the grenade explosion.

For that, Smith, who had been in

Find top McGovern aides knew of Eagleton illness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says through a close friend he had no knowledge of Sen. Thomas Eagleton's hospitalization for exhaustion before selecting the Missouri senator as his running mate and is surprised at a report his top aides learned of it earlier.

The Associated Press learned in a series of interviews that McGovern aides became aware of the matter while checking rumors Eagleton had a drinking problem, reacting with relief when the latter proved untrue.

Henry Kimelman, McGovern's finance chairman, told a reporter Tuesday night McGovern heard nothing of the Missouri senator's medical record until after the Democratic convention ended.

Earlier that day, however, two

McGovern aides, Gordon Weil and Frank Mankiewicz, had discussed it with Eagleton's administrative assistant. Mankiewicz said they didn't tell McGovern until later because "it wasn't a serious problem" at that time.

In Kansas City Tuesday night, Eagleton said that, if McGovern's top aides knew of his medical history, "they sure didn't let me know about it."

"My only contact with Frank Mankiewicz about the second spot was the 35 seconds I spent on the phone with him after Sen. McGovern called me to be his running mate," Eagleton said. "Mankiewicz said 'no skeletons rattling around in the closet, right?' and I said 'right.'"

Eagleton was in Kansas City to address a convention of The Associated Press Managing Editors.

"I discussed the problems with everybody who asked about it and I leveled with them," Eagleton said. "That's my question about this story. If they knew about all of this before the convention, why didn't they come to me with the reports?"

"I would have said, 'That's right, the reports are true. That's the way it is.'"

Ballot count hikes total for Nixon

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — President Richard Nixon enjoyed an even larger winning margin when 8,100 uncounted ballots were recounted by the Butler County Board of Elections.

Nixon's total increased to 49,981, up 5,570. Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern picked up 2,532 for a 21,042 county total.

The recount was ordered when it was disclosed the computers did not count several thousand presidential ballots. Officials said some IBM cards used by voters were not properly aligned.

Stocks stay over 1,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market struggled today to stay above the record levels it had set Tuesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which closed above 1,000 points Tuesday for the first time ever, at noon was up 1.58 to 1004.74. Earlier it had been up more than 4 points.

The New York Stock Exchange Index of some 1,400 common stocks was up .10 to 63.04—just above its all-time closing high of 62.94 set Tuesday. The price-change index at the American Stock Exchange was up .03 to 26.14.

With the Dow having moved up about 80 points in less than a month, analysts said some investors were bound to cash in their gains.

One negative news factor which hit the market shortly after the opening was a report that the U.S. trade balance had worsened seriously in the third quarter.

On the Big Board, advances led declines by 860 to 433, with 1,684 issues changing hands in active trading.

Opinion And Comment

A disgrace to democracy

There are two especially striking numerical facts about this year's presidential election. One is that more voters than ever before in history - 77.5 million of them - went to the polls. That's good.

The other is that the proportion of the electorate voting fell below 60 per cent for the first time since 1948. That's bad. That is very bad indeed, and it seems worse the longer one contemplates the much higher voting percentages common in many other democratic countries.

The American public has for a long time provided a notably poor example of the democratic process in action. The voter turnout in the last five presidential elections averaged only 62 per cent; in other words fully one-third of those eligible to vote have for a variety of reasons not exercised their voice in our government.

That is bad enough, but this time around the total fell to only 56 per cent of the 140 million eligible to vote. Explain it as you will, there is simply no justifying such a feeble performance. A primary long-range political concern in the years ahead should be to substantially lower the proportion of Americans who choose not to (or are not able to) speak their minds at the polls.

A Word Edgewise . . . by John P. Roche

The real mandate

The 1972 presidential election was billed as a contest between Richard Nixon and George McGovern. In fact, however, these two individuals were engulfed in a referendum on the American way of life. The voters saw their choice as between America and "Amerika."

Once this occurred, the actual character of the candidates and issues became basically irrelevant. This was clearly tipped by an October poll which asked the prospective voters whether they preferred (1) Nixon; (2) McGovern; or (3) neither. Thirty-seven per cent, a plurality, opted for "neither."

On another level the choice, harshly put, was between thieves and theocrats, between the incredible activities of the Committee to Re-elect the President (CREEP) and the sickening self-righteousness of the McGovernites, of the "New Politics" mandarins who asserted that the election was (in McGovern's phrase) a contest "between good and evil." Americans, who are profoundly suspicious of self-righteousness, chose a familiar "square" vice in preference to an elitist, moralistic one.

TO SAY THIS is not to suggest that President Nixon is a "thief" — or, for that matter, that Senator McGovern is a 100-proof "theocrat." I am personally convinced that the President is far too intelligent to have authorized the alleged and well-documented activities of CREEP. One can legitimately assume that had he wanted Lawrence O'Brien's office bugged, the result would have been an invisible, professional job, not a bumbling amateur hour. But he is still politically responsible for the activities of his honchos, whether he was aware of them or not.

Similarly, McGovern is not an authentic "theocrat," though he does have a dominant chromosome for political piety. He is an amiable, not terribly perceptive man who became hypnotized by the rhetoric provided by a hot-eyed crew of ideologues. Which is not to say that when he announced the election as a choice between "good and evil," he was insincere. Before he deluded anyone else, he first deluded himself: sincerity is often a product of auto-hypnosis. By now he probably believes that he had opposed the Vietnamese War since its inception.

As Jeremiah he was badly miscast: his most ferocious denunciations of the Nixon administration's "corruption" emerged sounding like recitations of the weather report. At his most prophetic, he sounded like a common scold. In this he was remarkably reminiscent of the Henry Wallace of 1948.

Once it is understood that the battle was between "Nixonism" and "McGovernism," a number of pieces fall into place. As the leading papers and newweeklies hammered away at the wickedness of CREEP, the electorate merely yawned, sending Anthony Lewis and other critics into hysterics over our collective lack of a sense of outrage. What these shrill commentators failed to realize was that in this instance, the first job was to dispose of the theocrats — then convene the grand jury and nail the thieves. In short, first things first.

TO PUT IT differently, at the symbolic level to vote for America against "Amerika" you had to select Richard Nixon. But that act in no sense endorsed the activities of those who may have operated illegally in his behalf. You simply had to get the McGovernites off the street before tackling violations of the criminal code. "McGovernism" — as it appeared to the voters — represented a flat rejection of American ideals. By comparison, "Nixonism" was a run-of-the-mill affair, the kind of routine business that keeps public prosecutors across the land fully employed. The offenses were simply not of the same order of ideological magnitude.

What occurred, then, was not a "watershed" election or a "New Republican Majority" replacing the old Democratic coalition. It was a one-shot affair in which the electorate demonstrated (while retaining Democratic control of Congress) that one cannot successfully run for President of the United States on what is perceived as an anti-American platform.

Indian militancy

If the militant young Indians who occupied the Bureau of Indian Affairs building in Washington for a week intended mainly to call attention to their grievances, the undertaking was a success. They got plenty of publicity.

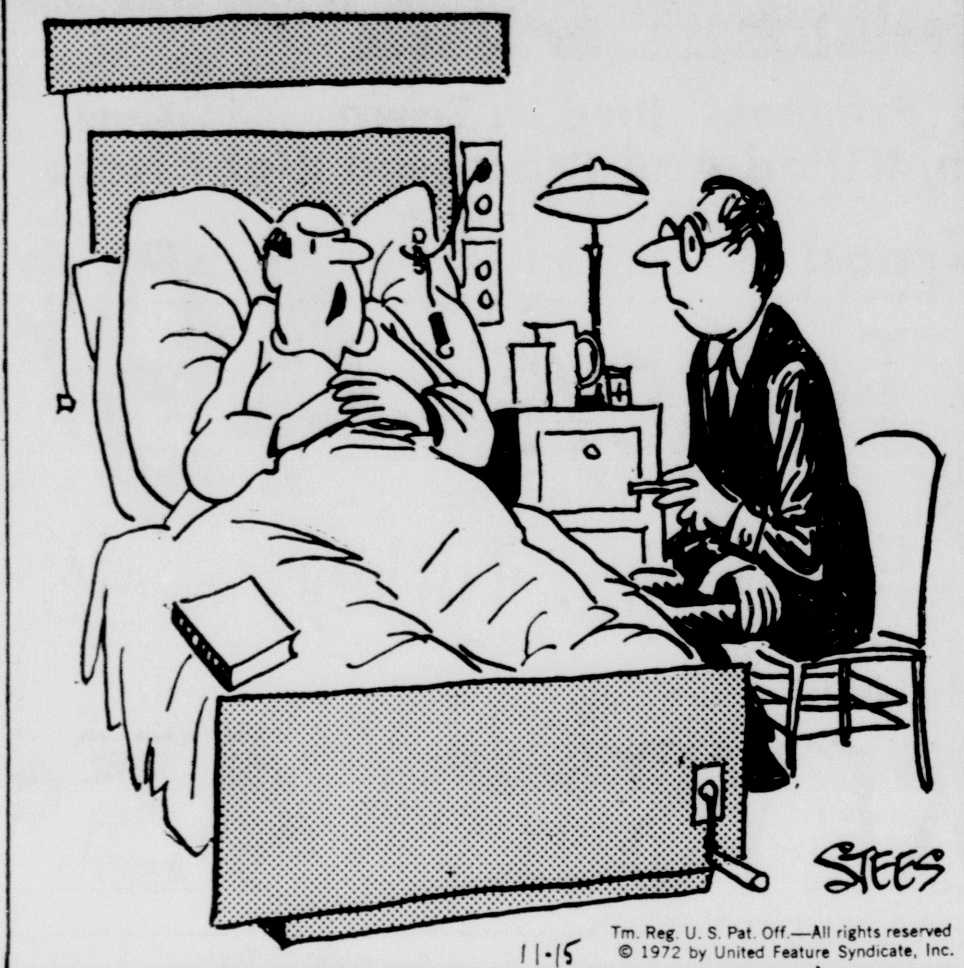

If their intention also extended to arousing sympathy for the plight of the Indian in America, the success of the venture becomes less evident. The act of stealing documents and treating from the BIA files may very well have had the contrary effect of beclouding sympathy with irritation at such tactics.

The old question is raised: How far can the ritual of demonstration and demand go before it starts defeating its purpose, if that purpose be the arousal of public concern? At what point will even the supporters of a cause be "turned off," as the saying goes?

The warriors of the American Indian Movement who seized the Bureau of Indian Affairs headquarters and rifled its files might reply that they are less interested in generating widespread sympathy than in moving the BIA bureaucracy to take what they see as constructive action. To some extent this purpose was accomplished. The White House has offered a proposal for review of Indian grievances, and a study ranging over the activities of 13 agencies which deal with Indian affairs has been ordered.

In the end, however, such attempts to goad the federal government into responding more generously and effectively to Indian needs will not be enough. The Indians will not receive full social justice until the heart, and conscience of the nation are captured by this concern. Militant vandalism to vote have for a variety of reasons the opposite effect.

Balmy 'Down Under'

One can't rightly blame the Australians for issuing reminders at this time of year that as the rest of us head for winter they're enjoying balmy days down under. It seems a little much, though, as sharp winds from the north speak of things to come.

It wouldn't be so bad if the Australians just issued press releases saying, in effect: "It's wonderful; wish you were here." But they have to go and send pictures of maidens disporting themselves in the surf. That's an unkind reminder of how long it'll be before anything like that happens up here again.

MRS. ROYCEE E. MCGHEE

Vows are exchanged in Presbyterian chapel

Miss Carol Ann Palmer became the bride of Royce E. McGhee in a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the chapel of First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Gerald Wheat officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar enhanced with brass candelabra and yellow chrysanthemums, orange gladioli, bronze daisies and greenery. The pews were marked with fall colored satin bows and greenery. Mrs. John P. Case, organist, presented a prelude of wedding selections.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil A. Palmer, 320 Gregg St., and Mrs. Robert Stage, of Mount Sterling, and Mr. Lloyd McGhee, of Columbus.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of Chantilly lace over nylon acetate, which she fashioned and made. It featured an empire waist accented by a wide satin band which came to a bow in the back. The deep V-neckline was edged with lace and the cuffs of the long camelot sleeves also were edged with lace. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a white satin bow. She carried a cascade of white phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, orange sweetheart roses and ivy.

Mrs. John Waddle, matron of honor for her sister, wore a floor-length apricot gown of chiffon over taffeta, styled with empire waist. The neckline and long flowing sleeves were edged with ruffles. She carried a cascade of bronze daisies, orange sweetheart roses, miniature bronze mums and ivy and wore matching flowers in her hair.

John Waddle was the best man for his brother-in-law. The mother of the bride wore an A-line gold and green dress with wedding ring collar and matching accessories. Her corsage was of white pompons.

The bridegroom's mother wore an A-line dress of two-toned beige with short sleeves and a round neckline. She carried matching accessories and wore a corsage of white miniature pompons.

Hostesses for the reception in the church parlor following the ceremony were Mrs. Russell Carter and Miss Susie Carter. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with an arrangement of bronze mums and daisies, and orange sweetheart roses.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside at Rt. 3, Orient.

Auxiliary meets

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Church of God met at the church with Mrs. David Henson, president, in charge. She also presented devotions.

Among the projects for November will be a bake sale at Buckeye Mart on Nov. 18, and selling praying hands pens and candy.

A blanket and bedspread for the "Home for Children" in Tennessee will be purchased and the group will prepare a food basket for a needy family in December.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party and gift exchange in the home of Mrs. Henson. Secret sisters will also be revealed at this time.

Present were Mrs. Henson, Mrs. Chester Burlile, Mrs. Olive Crabtree, Mrs. James Mongold and Mrs. Olen Sturgil.

Personals

Mrs. Vada Moats, 926 S. Fayette St., has returned home from Madison, W. Va., where she spent a few days visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Moats, and family. While there they celebrated the 11th birthday of her grandson, James Alan.

Senator Bricker guest speaker for DAR

Mrs. R. Dean Powell, regent, Washington C. H. chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Charles W. Ellis, Miss Mabel Briggs and Mrs. J. Earl McLean were guests of the Mount Sterling DAR chapter, Saturday.

The program for the meeting was presented by members of the Columbus Kiwanis Club.

Senator John Bricker, formerly of Mount Sterling, was present, who made the "Commitment" address.

Bernard Savy was master of ceremonies and described the "Commitment Program" and introduced Ray Steelman and Mrs. Steelman, who presented two patriotic musical numbers. Ralph Hemming spoke of the Declaration of Independence and John Adams. "God Bless America" was sung by the group and copies of the Declaration of Independence and the American Heritage were distributed. Members enjoyed a social hour around the tea table.

Marriage announced

Mrs. Karyn Penwell exchanged marriage vows with Harry Schaudt at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in the Church of Christ at Jamestown. The Rev. Gene Stinson performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Garringer, Rt. 1, Jamestown, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Marie Schaudt, of Jeffersonville, formerly of Springfield, and the late Lenhart Schaudt.

Mrs. James Baughn Jr., organist, presented a prelude of wedding music.

The bride wore a formal length gown of blue lace with long sleeves and matching headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of white mums, carnations and rosebuds.

The matron of honor was the bride's cousin, Mrs. Paulette Ketchell, of Springfield. She wore a formal length gown with blue skirt and white bodice and carried a colonial bouquet like that of the bride.

Robert Chaffin, of Springfield, was the best man and the ushers were Kevin and Tony Taylor, of Jeffersonville.

For the reception in the home of the bride's parents following the wedding ceremony, Miss Kathleen Miller presided at the guest book and Mrs. Marlin Gordin and Mrs. Charles Garringer were the hostesses.

The couple will reside at 16½ W. Washington St., Jamestown. She is employed at Pure Plaza and her husband at Kelsey Hays in Springfield.

Marriage vows are exchanged

Miss Robin Lynn Gatton became the bride of Donnie Edward Beekman Nov. 3 in the New Holland Church of Christ before an altar enhanced with greenery and a lighted cross.

The Rev. Howard McGinnis officiated for the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gatton, of New Holland, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Beekman, Rt. 3, Washington C.H.

Mrs. Eldon Howard, of New Antoch, organist, presented a half-hour prelude of music.

The bride wore a white street-length knit dress with scoop neckline and lace collar. The empire A-line frock had lace bell-shaped sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and pink rosebuds, with streamers tied in lovers' knots. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Duane Harper, matron of honor for her sister, wore a deep rose princess style knit dress with short sleeves and round neckline. Her flowers were raspberry rosebuds with miniature white mums and greenery.

Jim Beekman served as best man for his brother.

The mother of the bride chose a chocolate brown dress with high neckline and wore a corsage of pink rosebuds for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a three-piece double knit suit of blue and white and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Seating the wedding guests were Mark Gatton, brother of the bride, and Duane Harper, brother-in-law of the bride.

Hostesses for the reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Walters, uncle and aunt of the bride, were Mrs. Robert Hawkins, Mrs. Wendell Jones and Mrs. Walters.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Beekman are graduates of Miami Trace High School. The bride was associated with Coffman Stair Co., prior to her marriage and her husband, after serving two years with the U.S. Marines Corps, is now employed by the Mac Tool Corp. in Washington C.H.

They are residing at 1030 Spring Lake Rd.

Dear Abby . . .

Married, but wants new partner

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My best friend, a 40-year-old divorcee with two children, joined Parents Without Partners last year. She met a swell man there (a widower with three children) and they are being married soon, and I am so envious I am ashamed of myself.

I would love to join Parents Without Partners and meet a nice gentleman with a family who wants to meet a nice lady with children.

I am 42 and have three wonderful sons who need a father. The problem is I am still married. My husband is never home and I am tired of being both mother and father. If I could find a man who really wanted to stay home and be a family man I would leave the one I'm married to so fast he wouldn't know what hit him.

I wonder if anyone has ever joined that club just to look over the prospects?

PARENT WITH NO PARTNER
DEAR PARENT: Sorry, but you don't qualify for membership in Parents Without Partners, because technically you HAVE a partner. I suggest you get some counseling to improve your marital relationship and get that silent partner of yours to sing a more co-operative tune. Widows and divorcees have enough competition without married women who would like a change.

DEAR ABBY: I am 79, and I am NOT senile, but something has puzzled me since my teens. I was secretary to a psychiatrist for many years, but could never pick up the courage to ask him about my problem, if you can call it a problem. (Unfortunately, he is dead now.)

I can "see" things that are not there. For instance, I glance down on the floor, and in the figured linoleum pattern I can actually "see" an animal, bird, or the profile of a person! At times I can look again and see the same image, and at other times, no matter how hard I try to see that image again, I can't.

These are not just crazy lines all over the linoleum, yet at a glance they go together to form a distinct image. I can do this with numerous things. I "see" images of trees, whose leaves are swaying in the breeze, in clouds, and in some hodge-podge modern paintings. And if I look a moment later, the images I clearly saw are gone forever.

Can you explain this?
STILL PUZZLED IN PA.

DEAR PUZZLED: The images are conjured up by your imagination, and I dare say there is not a person alive who has not had the same experience, so don't let it bother you.

DEAR ABBY: Newton and I have been married for a year. His first wife died after 22 years, and from what he tells me, theirs must have been a perfect marriage. This is my second time around, too. Only I was divorced and my marriage was miserable.

Newton moved into my house after we married and the first thing he did was to set up no less than a dozen pictures of his first wife. He hung an enormous one over the fireplace in the living room and started burning an "eternal torch" under it. (He said if Jackie Kennedy could do it, so could he.)

I made him take the torch away. He also started burning jasmine incense all over the house because that was "her" favorite fragrance. I developed an allergy to it, so now he burns it only in the den, and sits in there smelling jasmine every chance he gets.

The last straw was when he started going to the cemetery every morning to visit her grave. It's 26 miles out of the way to his job, so I have to get up at 5:30 a.m. to prepare his breakfast. Also, he uses my gas card to fill his tank.

My friends say I am crazy to put up

Car fires toy tank gun

ESHER, England (AP) — A motorist who pulled into a service station in Surrey complained of unusual noises coming from the back of his car. But a mechanic soon sorted things out.

The driver's son had left a toy tank in the trunk — the movement of the car caused caps in the gun to fire.

There may be gold in the dustiest family heirlooms, one reason people have begun to keep estate diaries. An inventory of family items included in a diary which lists the family's entire assets may provide the poorest family with a sense of economic worth that someday may be converted into real cash.

Real estate, savings bonds, insurance, jewelry should be listed also, if the family has such assets.

Using the book method, one couple realized $9,500 on the sale of furnishings that even included fairly new items. The money is considered a windfall that might keep them for a few years in their Mediterranean hideaway. Childless, they had decided the heirlooms were expendable, too expensive to take with them and they might just as well enjoy the cash. They had not figured it would net them anything near the sum they realized.

Old china — the kind people keep unused on their shelves generation after generation — was in such good condition it was sold to a dealer for $2,000. Paintings, prints, linens brought another $800. An empire clock netted $85. Furniture brought more than $3,000 and included fairly new pieces among them tilt top table, Victorian sofa, a schoolmaster desk, old andirons. Furniture is now so expensive and people are so aware of the possibilities of refurbishing it, that even fairly new pieces in good shape can bring handsome prices.

More recently a woman began keeping such a diary when her husband told guests who had inquired that the tintype of her relatives 'was something picked up in a junkshop.' As she quickly reminded him, the frame was, but the relatives weren't. But it made her think — what would happen to the old family relics if she weren't around to earmark them for the children. And even if they didn't like the old family paintings — there are a lot of antique hunters willing to pay good prices in adopting such ancestors.

Motivated more by sentimentality, she began a diary listing everything the family owned indoors and outdoors, the cost of each item and the current market value. In addition to the list being available for insurance purposes in the event of catastrophe, every member of the family can be better informed about the family's household effects by looking at the book.

The dining room was an afterthought that proved to be a treasure trove of salable items — old candlesticks, Madeira cloth, Staffordshire bibelots, cut glass, porcelain, silver. Staffordshire is still being made from old molds so it is a good idea to jot down all information about it so that it may be convincingly sold.

Boyle miniquiz: man or woman?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Sex must be getting less important in this country. Otherwise, why should it become increasingly difficult to tell the sexes apart?

When everyone today dresses, talks and acts alike, how can this be done? Well, mistakes are always possible, but there are still some clues as to how to tell the sexes apart.

For example:

If it can put a sock on while standing on one leg, it's a man. If it has to sit on the edge of the bed and then fall over backward to struggle into its stockings, it's a woman.

Does it usually shave above the shoulders? It's a guy. Does it usually shave below the shoulders? It's a gal.

If it bores you by always wanting to tell you its dreams, it's a her. If it bores you by always wanting to brag about its hangovers, it's a him.

If it says it wears the pants in the family, put it down as the papa. If it actually wears the pants in the family, put it down as the mama.

Can it drive better while sitting in the front seat of a car? Dad once more. Can it drive better while sitting in the back seat? Mom again.

Does it wear its dentures at all times because it can't stand the thought of being seen with them out? Dear old

President Nixon to push overseas trade?

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon may direct the American economy more toward overseas markets than he did in his first term, bankers and economists seem to agree.

American companies, for example, are expected to be strengthened in overseas markets by relaxation of some rules which have hampered mergers and intra-industry cooperation, they say.

Bankers in New York and other domestic points agreed on these points:

—The goal of fixed exchange rates will be sought more actively.

—American investments overseas may decrease because of tax law changes.

—Foreign aid may be increased, but might be spent mostly in Southeast Asia.

—Protection of American industry through tariffs will not increase.

Topic by topic, here is what bankers and traders see for the next four years:

Trade — Will grow as tariff barriers are lowered around the world. Lower customs duties will be sought by the United States in continuing negotiations. The Nixon administration is not likely to raise its own duties.

Dollar — Protection will be less of an issue as the dollar strengthens. "The financial establishment likes what it sees of the federal budget and money supply," said William Wolman, economist for Argus Research, "and that will make the dollar stronger."

Balance of payments — Should improve as overseas investment dollars come in. There is some feeling that foreign subsidiaries of U.S. companies might be taxed higher, thus making capital outflows less likely.

There is talk that U.S. antitrust laws may be relaxed to permit more cooperation among American companies operating overseas.

Foreign aid — May increase in the next four years, but where it will be spent is in doubt. There is a strong feeling, however, that any increase must go to Southeast Asia.

Store apples in perforated plastic bags in the refrigerator; they should keep well for at least three weeks.

NEW HOLLAND — The annual hobby show will highlight the meeting of the New Holland Parent-Teacher Organization next Tuesday. It is scheduled to open at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

The show will be divided into five divisions: kindergarten; first and second grades; third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades; seventh and eighth grades and adults. Entries are to be made by Friday with Mrs. Grace Patton at the school.

Thirty-four cash prizes will be awarded. Separate classes also will be set up for boys and girls, whose hobbies usually are different. Parents are being urged to participate in the show, too, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Shaw are the general chairmen.

During the PTO business session, final reports on the Halloween carnival will be made by Mrs. Robert Frazier.

The program committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Morarity,

Mr. and Mrs. Larry McFadden and Hugh Patton. Mrs. Frazier will be in charge of the babysitting.

Mrs. Harold H. Thompson, president, will announce that plans for a skating party at Roller Haven in Washington C.H. from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Nov. 27 have been completed.

Two audits completed

Reports of audits of the records of Union Township and Washington Cemetery have been received by Fayette County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant.

The audit of the cemetery records covered the period of Feb. 1, 1970, to April 30, 1972. Union Townships audit covered the period of Jan. 26, 1970, to June 21, 1972. Both sets of records were inspected by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices. Only minor discrepancies were found in both audits, Marchant reported.

After adjournment, refreshments will be served by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Minshall, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Chrisman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hott, Mr. and Mrs. James Landman, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Longberry.

Motorcyclists bid colleague farewell

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — As they lowered Harry Francis Nickels Jr., a few of his buddies leaned over and kissed his casket.

Nearly 150 came—Iron Horsemen, Rogues, Mesaleros, Baron's Earth and Hell's Angels—wearing their boots, jeans and sleeveless denim jackets.

As his friends left the funeral at Greenwood Memorial Park Monday, police pulled them over one by one for safety checks of their motorcycles.

Pottenger says Netzley to blame for GOP losses

CINCINNATI (AP) — The movement to repeal the state income tax was directly related to the Republican's loss of a majority position in the Ohio House of Representatives, GOP state Rep. Thomas Pottenger says.

Pottenger, R-73 Cincinnati, defeated in the GOP primary last May by Richard Finan of Evendale, said that the drive also led to reduction of the party's majority to only one vote in the state Senate.

Although the party did not endorse the repeal effort, Pottenger said the measure won a place on the ballot mainly on the efforts of five GOP state representatives, including Robert Netzley, R-7 Laura.

Pottenger said Netzley "should contribute his entire salary to charity for the next two years and remain in Miami County."

Program's future uncertain

City Recreation Board shelves Eyman projects

The City Recreation Board, with many uncertainties to face concerning funds for 1973, decided Tuesday night to temporarily table several improvement projects for Eyman Park and instead develop a master plan for recreation for future years.

Mrs. Jeddy Graves, board chairman, recommended that the board study several plans already in existence, such as the central Business District report which devotes a section to recreational needs, and a master plan already adopted and on file with the city.

"We plan to study these reports, make modifications and recommend goals to City Council," Mrs. Graves said.

said. The Recreation Board also plans to work with the City Planning Commission to create open spaces for park areas in all future city developments.

Two capital improvement items for Eyman Park were tabled temporarily by the board — construction of a rest-room facility near the shelterhouse and an estimated $2,500 parking lot improvement. The purchase of a small tractor for the park was deemed "a luxury" and also was tabled.

Other items on the planning list to be completed prior to the 1973 summer recreation program — acquiring a tractor and mowing equipment and establishing rules and regulations for softball leagues — most likely will be accomplished, the moving services through the cooperation of the City Street Department.

"It is uncertain at this time whether or not we will have a summer program in 1973," Mrs. Graves said. "For the small cost per person, it would be a shame to discontinue it."

However, she said the board will continue to plan for recreation in Washington C. H. despite the present lack of funds and the uncertainties of future finances.

Land case jury award $8,250

A Common Pleas Court jury Tuesday afternoon awarded $8,250 to a Newark real estate firm as compensation for a small tract of land on CCC Highway-W appropriated by the Ohio Department of Highways for the U.S. 35 bypass improvement.

J. Phillip Richley, highway director, filed the appropriation suit against Gina Ann Buckley, doing business as the G&R Realty Co., of Newark, owners of the property and building where Sea-way, Inc. is located.

The Division of Highways deposited with the court $5,900 as compensation for the appropriation, but the real estate firm could not settle for that amount.

Members of the jury were Marvin Dodson, Ronald Bonham, Eunice H. Merritt, James L. Hamilton, Kenneth W. Duncan, Arthur Terry, Martha M. Arnett, Nel M. Crook and Ann E. Cannon.

4 Forest Shaders win state awards

NEW MARTINSBURG — In making his report on the Ohio State Grange convention in Columbus last month at the Forest Shade Grange meeting Tuesday night, County Deputy Richard Carson announced that four of the Forest Shade members had received awards.

They were Mrs. Robert Bock, superior for her women's activities committee leadership; Mrs. Russell Grice, a ribbon for placing first in the county in the sewing contest; Mrs. Robert Ritter, distinguished service citation as secretary and a ribbon for winning the county baking contest; and Cathy Clouser, a Junior Grange member, who placed fifth in the cookie baking contest at the convention.

The meeting was conducted by Master Winfred Morgan, who announced a 50-cent gift exchange has been planned for the Dec. 12 meeting. It also was announced that each member will read an article about Christmas at this meeting.

The program following the business session was presented by the lecturer, Mrs. Florence Bethards. Articles about Thanksgiving were read by Mrs. Bethards, Mrs. Charles Van Dyke, Kenneth Clouser, Miss Louise Ritter and Mrs. Otties Smith.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. George Durnell, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Grice.

Rumor mongers in for trouble

RICHMOND HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — This suburban Cleveland community has just been ruled off limits to gossip. Rumormongers may find themselves facing a judge if Safety Director Albert Bailey has his way. Bailey said a rash of rumors about crime in the shopping centers are threatening the economic life of the town.

Bailey said recent reports of muggings, drug sales, shootings and prostitution at the shopping centers were all checked out and all proven false.

Now, says Bailey, when reports come in to the police department, police will ask for a written statement that includes the source of the information. If the report is unfounded, the name of the person responsible will be turned over to the shopping center for possible prosecution, he said.

Heart transplants thing of the past?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Heart transplants are almost a thing of the past, because new methods of repairing the heart are more successful, says Dr. Michael DeBakey.

DeBakey, who helped pioneer heart transplant surgery, said his team of physicians at Baylor University School of Medicine is now fixing hearts of patients "who would have been candidates for heart transplants" a few years ago.

No lead Yule tinsel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says that "not a single strand" of lead Christmas tree tinsel should be found on store shelves this Yule season.

"It's gone. We have assurances that not one ounce will be sold this year," said Malcolm "Mac" Jensen, director of FDA's Bureau of Product Safety.

Last Christmas the agency was accused of agreeing secretly with several lead tinsel manufacturers not to publicize an understanding that production would stop Jan. 1, 1972, but sales could continue through the 1972 Christmas season.

Jensen denies it. "There was never any effort to hide it," he said in an interview. "The decision was made internally not to publicize it because we feared that many people preferring the lead variety would stockpile it."

After the charges of secret dealing surfaced, Jensen said, "We got back to the industry and said, 'You haven't got a saleable product anymore. You might as well get out of the lead business.'"

Lake Erie may become tax paradise

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) — If an 1840 law holds water, Lake County may become about 900 square miles bigger officially—and turn salt into gold, sort of.

And other counties on Lake Erie's shores might do the same.

Daniel J. Supanick, Lake County auditor, says an 1835 state law established that boundaries of counties bordering the lake extended due north to the Canadian border. The border is mid-way between the U. S. and Canadian shores.

An 1840 law created Lake County as separate from Cuyahoga and Geauga counties, of which it had been a part.

Morton Salt Co. of Painesville Township has several miles of salt mines on the bottom of the lake, but it is taxed now only for its property on dry land, Supanick says.

County Prosecutor Fred V. Skok has told Supanick to send tax appraisers into the mine for a valuation and then to send the company a tax bill.

Skok and Supanick say there are other industries and businesses with properties which extend into the lake.

Increasing flow of Heroin from Far East worrisome

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal narcotics officials are revising sharply upward their estimates of the amount of heroin that Southeast Asian countries supply to drug traffickers within the United States.

New official estimates from the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (BNDD) say that 30 per cent of the 6.5 to 10 tons of illicit heroin entering the country annually originates in Southeast Asia.

In congressional testimony and in other public statements, federal officials previously have estimated that Southeast Asian countries accounted for between 5 and 15 per cent of the heroin sold to the 500,000 or more addicts in the U.S.

For example, in August, retired Marine Gen. Lewis Walt cited official estimates in reporting to a Senate committee that "Southeast Asian heroin accounts for no more than 10 to 15 per cent of the total traffic coming into this country."

Walt, a former commander of U.S. Marines in Vietnam, had been commissioned by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to investigate world drug traffic.

He noted that Southeast Asia is one of the most important opium growing areas in the world and said the area "will become an increasingly important source of illicit opiates now that Turkey is phasing out legal production." Heroin is produced from opium.

On June 9, Nelson Gross, State Department coordinator for international narcotics matters, told a congressional committee, "We estimate that probably only 5 per cent and certainly no more than 10 per cent of the heroin presently flowing to the United States originates in Southeast Asia."

At about that time, Sen. William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., submitted a series of questions about international drug traffic to John Ingersoll, head of BNDD. After some prodding, the answers recently came through and included the far higher estimates for Southeast Asia's share.

The BNDD report said its figures on the sources of heroin sold in the United States came from identification of traffickers. BNDD said 60 per cent of the heroin sold to U.S. addicts originated in the Near East and another 10 per cent in Mexico.

Changed from a monthly publication to a weekly issue, "The Washington Sunburst," the official organ of the press of Washington High School, made its first appearance of the year on the newsstands this week.

LAFF - A - DAY

"He's a great watchdog... he watches TV five or six hours a day."

Airline security measures under intensive scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has started an intensive investigation of procedures to combat air piracy in the wake of the weekend hijack of a Southern Airways jet.

Most officials aren't talking about why current safeguards failed to thwart the three men who commandeered the DC9 over Alabama Friday night and held 31 passengers and crew members captive for a 3,800-mile, 28-hour nightmare.

But one FAA security specialist said privately, "We are not yet sure as to why the hijackers and their weapons were not detected in the pre-boarding check."

Asst. Transportation Secretary Benjamin O. Davis said Monday night the FAA had told him the three men were selected for special screening as they prepared to board the plane at the Birmingham, Ala., airport.

Southern Airways employees pulled the three from among other passengers because they fit the FAA hijacker profile, Davis said the FAA told him.

The three men were allowed to board after undergoing a special electronic check, he said. There was no immediate explanation why the men's weapons failed to show up in the screening.

Neither the FAA nor the FBI would comment publicly on the antihijack procedures. The Air Line Pilots Association, which usually voices strong protests following a hijacking, declined comment until officials conferred with the DC9 crew.

Any alteration of the antihijack procedures will depend on the outcome of the study, FAA security specialists said Monday.

The hijacking Friday was the 31st this year in the United States and the 10th considered successful.

It is not known precisely what security measures were in effect at Birmingham Friday night when the three men hijacked the jet on a circuitous route that eventually took them to Cuba with an unknown amount of ransom money.

Southern Airways officials have refused to say what sort of metal detection device was in use, and there have been conflicting reports about whether any was in use at all.

Lindsay appeared Monday night as a guest on the first "Tonight" program taped in New York since the late night

Lindsay congratulated Carson on his recent marriage, compared marriage to politics and said, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Carson's response: "But, I hope to get better at it."

300 area people to be tested by Health Service

About 300 persons aged 1-74 years from the Fayette and Ross County area will receive health and nutrition examinations in a study beginning Nov. 30 by the National Center for Health Statistics, Health Services and Mental Health Administration, U. S. Public Health Service.

The examining program of a nationwide sampling study of young persons and adults by the Health and Nutrition Examination Survey of the Public Health Service. The Survey will examine a representative sample of the U. S. population to collect uniform statistical information on selected chronic conditions and related health care needs among adults and to assess the nutritional status of Americans ages 1-74 years. The activity is a part of the National Health Survey authorized by Congress.

Persons to be examined in the Survey will be chosen by a scientific sampling process from among the population of this area. Examinations will be given in the Health and Nutrition Examination Survey's mobile examination center which will be located on the grounds of the Chillicothe - Ross County Health Department, 50 Pohlman Road, Chillicothe.

Interviewers from the Bureau of the Census will visit the selected households beginning Nov. 13, prior to the start of examinations, to ask questions about the composition of each household, to identify eligible persons and to obtain related information. Later, a Health Examination representative will visit some of these households, talk to the persons or parents of the persons selected for the examination, explain the program, complete a medical history form on each person, and arrange appointments for examination.

The examinations will be given by teams of physicians, nurses, dentists, and X-ray and other technicians. No charge is made for the examination and transportation is provided to and from the examination.

Ghost ends overtime

CHERTSEY, England (AP) — Workers at a printing factory in Surrey have banned overtime until the management can banish Henry, a ghost, from the shop floor. The men refuse to stay in the building after dark when, they claim, Henry opens and closes locked doors.

Registered Herefords to be sold at auction

A total of 24 registered and graded Hereford heifers and 23 steers will be sold at auction at the fourth annual Harvest Roundup Saturday night at the Fairground here. The sale is sponsored by the Ohio Hereford Association.

The calves will be graded at 4 p.m. by Dick Sours and the sale will start at 7 p.m. in the livestock sales arena with Emerson Marting the auctioneer.

All the calves have been tested for tuberculosis and Bang's disease and health certificates will be furnished to the buyer. Certificates of registry will go with each animal. Only two of the steers are designated in the catalog as crossbred.

Several of the steers are expected to be purchases by 4-H members and Future Farmers for their beef projects and as prospects to be shown and sold at the Fair here next summer.

Highway Patrol plans open house

An open house will be held at the Ohio Highway Patrol district headquarters in Wilmington next Wednesday, Nov. 22, Capt. D. M. Carey, the post commander announced while in Washington C. H. Tuesday.

It is scheduled for 2 to 5 p.m. and will be in recognition of the 39th anniversary of the Patrol.

The Ohio State Highway Patrol was formed in 1933 with an initial complement of 60 men under the command of Col. Lynn Black. Since then, Capt. Carey pointed out, progress of the Patrol has been marked by steady growth to its present status with more than 1,300 troopers and the latest in modern law enforcement equipment.

Capt. Carey said the current superintendent, Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte will be at the open house to talk with visitors, who will be there to tour the facilities and see some of the latest aids for police work.

Robin Hood must be good to play in Christmas show

LONDON (AP) — British actor Edward Woodward, who will play Robin Hood in a Christmas show, is practicing with his bow and arrows in his back yard. And he finds the going tough.

"My fingers are getting very raw, and I'm having to use spirit to harden the skin," he said. The show is expected to run from Christmas through April. "I've got to hit that bull's eye four times a day," Woodward said.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.
THURSDAY, NOV. 16

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)
You may consider making some changes now, but be careful not to make too many, or to go too far in any one direction. A good adjustment should work out well, however.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)
Harvests from past efforts should be substantial, but some may be delayed. Do not chafe, be extra patient. A good day in which to display your ingenuity.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Your competition will be strong now, but there is plenty of room for your talents. Display them with discriminating taste. There are benefits in the offing.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Don't leave yourself open to needless criticism. Know what you MUST do and HOW to go about it. With others observing your example, you could be a potent influence.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Stellar influences now suggest prudence, careful deliberation before acting. Don't "toss a coin" or make decisions in a haphazard way. Be painstaking.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Sturdy effort will do the trick on this "on-and-off" day. Some interesting challenges indicated. Original ideas may be accepted soon.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
With your innate good judgment and clever management, you should do well now, whatever your calling. On the personal side, romance favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Your planetary influences advise against useless activity, negative attitudes, opposing others without reason. A day for exercising tolerance and plain common sense.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
This day asks patience on everyone's part and, if others disrupt procedures, that is all the more reason to hold your ground. Care!

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Meet this day with the determination to see its new possibilities and offers — many to be eagerly grasped. Business negotiations highly favored.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
You may have had days you liked more but, nevertheless, you will have a chance to display your wares uniquely and earn SOME credits. No day is ever completely lost.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
A day in which you MUST avoid extremes: They will tempt in various forms. Some situations may prove difficult, but all can be made easier through the trying.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with remarkable intuition, relentless ambition and a keen sense of humor. There is a very deep side to your nature and you may have a strong religious bent; could become an excellent preacher, teacher or philosopher. If the outgoing side of your personality is predominant, you could excel in the law and (or) statesmanship; as a business executive or, professionally, in the musical or theatrical worlds. Just one admonition: Try to soften that rapier-like wit of yours lest it deteriorate into sarcasm or bitter invective.

Sentence woman for 12th time in shoplifting

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A 73-year-old woman has been sentenced to 30 days in the Indiana Women's Prison for her 12th conviction for shoplifting in 41 years.

Municipal Court Judge B. William Keithly imposed the sentence Monday on Mrs. Ruby McIntosh of Indianapolis, who was arrested Saturday on a charge of taking an $8 purse from a downtown store. She was also fined $50.

Keithly said Mrs. McIntosh has been convicted of shoplifting six times since 1949 and has received 990 days in suspended sentences since then.

He said she was first arrested for shoplifting in 1931 at Fort Wayne and served more than 600 days in jail before 1949 on convictions at Fort Wayne, Urbana, Ill., and Sandusky, Ohio.

Sheila Firestone Ford to marry next June

GROSSE POINTE SHORES, Mich. (AP) — Sheila Firestone Ford, granddaughter of auto pioneer Henry Ford, is engaged and plans to be married in June.

Miss Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Clay Ford of Grosse Pointe Shores, is engaged to William Justus Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Earl Brock, also of Grosse Pointe Shores, the family disclosed Sunday. Brock is a credit-analyst trainee with the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York.

Ohio methadone treatment program under study

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — She was 17 years old. She also was a drug addict, a mainliner of heroin.
Today, at 19, she's in jail, probably hopelessly lost to the normal world, a drug dropout.

The little teenager almost made it back too, with the help of methadone and the Bureau of Drug Abuse treatment center in Columbus. Almost — until her mother decided she didn't need help, that she shouldn't have to visit the clinic each day.

"It was sad, tragic," said Jim Mitchell, who directs the center. "She was doing so well."

The girl who almost made it was one of the hundreds under treatment with methadone in Ohio. About 2,000 addicts currently are being treated in Ohio's 18 methadone programs.

In the Columbus treatment center, as an example, 145 persons are getting methadone instead of heroin. Thirty-five are undergoing detoxification, 104 are being maintained and six being counseled in a drug-free state.

Other hundreds are being given the same kinds of treatment in centers in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, Youngstown, Akron, Canton, Springfield or Toledo.

Methadone is controversial. There are critics who say the drug has killed as many addicts as heroin. There are supporters who defend the use of methadone.

Dr. William George of the Columbus Area Mental Health Center, which operates the methadone center in Columbus under contract, said: "Methadone is just one tool in treating drug addiction."

A police officer said: "The only difference with methadone is it's cheaper."

That it is. A shot of methadone which under normal circumstances will keep an addict operating for 24 hours costs 11 cents. That same addict as a mainliner needing a fix every four to six hours would spend $40 to $120 daily with a pusher on the street.

Moreover, Dr. George pointed out, with methadone a normal life style is possible. An addict can come to the treatment center each morning and receive methadone, hold a job, have a family and operate normally as a human being.

If he uses heroin, he can not keep a normal life style, and his only eventual end is an early grave.

"Addicts are not only victims of physical addiction," said Dr. George, "but even worse, psychological addiction. Methadone helps us achieve physical withdrawal, but there must be treatment to overcome psychological addiction."

Mitchell believes in methadone. "It's not a cure, that's the first thing to realize," he said. "But, it does give relief from the pangs of withdrawal and it acts as a blocking agent. It reduces or blocks the effects of heroin."

Methadone itself is addictive, which is why the drug is regulated the federal government by license. Each methadone center must have a state pharmacy license, and a couple of federal licenses. And, methadone isn't given blindly at treatment centers.

An addict who comes to the treatment center, which must be voluntary, he must have firm signs of addiction — opiates in the urine, fresh hypodermic tracks, a burned nose from cocaine. Most times methadone treatment may be delayed until a urinalysis has been made.

After that the center's physician must rule on whether the addict may be maintained on methadone, or for health reasons detoxified to drug-free.

Because of the care with which it is administered, the Franklin County coroner's office reported no methadone deaths. In some areas, addicts are given their methadone, save it up and kill themselves with an overdose.

"Methadone is given in therapeutic doses," said Mitchell. "As a guess I'd say that of the 145 we have now on treatment, if all of them followed the advice given here, attended the group therapy and followed the counseling, 95 to 100 could be kept drug-free from now on."

"It's not the physical addiction. We can break that in about seven days. It's the psychological addiction. It has been estimated that about one-third of the addicts we get are psychotic, have mental problems aside from addiction. Another group are seeking escape from reality, which they find hard or impossible to face. And, there's the addict who got that way on impulse, for a new kick, for a variety of reasons."

For whatever reason, an estimated 7,000 Ohioans are drug addicts and police are busy handling drug related cases. Columbus police had 1,200 such cases in the first 10 months of 1972.

"You know," said Mitchell, who spends his days dealing with tragedy, "people say to me, 'It must be depressing to see someone like that teen-age girl slide back and fail,' and I say, 'Yes, it is. It is sad, it's depressing. But, then there's the one you help to succeed. The successful ones may come back months later and ask that we do a urinalysis just to show us they are off the dope for good."

"That's when it becomes worthwhile."

Green fire truck planned by city

TIVERTON, R. I. (AP) — The Tiverton Town Council has decided that the town's new fire engine will be painted lime green.

The council voted unanimously Monday night to abandon the traditional red color when Fire Chief Melvin E. Sanford suggested a green truck on the basis of recent safety studies.

"Red shows up black at night, green better reflects the light," the chief said.

Chris Gantry: 'put-on', or really top artist?

By ALAN WILSON
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — His fellow songwriters call him a genius who's too far ahead of his time to be understood.

His music publishers call him a cocky, brash kid who's putting himself and the entire world on.

And his audiences say he's a fascinating performer who can leave you dazzled one second and annoyed the next.

Whatever the case, Chris Gantry can play the dickens out of a guitar and thrash out a lyric that leaves you perplexed — not quite knowing whether to weep, laugh or study it like a poem.

At 29, he's regarded as one of the most brilliant but enigmatic singer-songwriters this music town has ever run into. He's been called the "Nashville poet," "the world's biggest puton artist" and "a man who was doing four years ago what Kris Kristofferson is doing nowadays."

"I don't know whether Gantry is a tortured soul or a free spirit," says one of Nashville's better known songwriters. "I'd say he's a free spirit."

Trying to describe Gantry's musical mode is a virtual impossibility because his style is unlike anyone else's. His most recent published product, an album entitled "Motormouth," has to be one of the most fascinating blends of country, folk and rock music ever devised.

"I'm a songwriter first. I sing what I write and I don't dig specializing in one kind of music," says the outspoken artist.

Despite his vast repertoire, Gantry remains primarily a "street picker" who peddles his work from one local club to another — not really giving a hoot whether anyone accepts him or not. Or so he says.

Gantry came to Nashville in 1963 from Jamaica, N.Y., where his father was an auctioneer. Two years ago he moved to a farm in nearby Franklin, a place he calls "my rock 'n roll turkey farm."

Before that, he said, "I lived on the streets of Nashville just like everybody else trying to make it in this business."

In a recent interview, which came on the heels of an impressive performance, Gantry detailed his attitude on life and music. He appeared disgusted with his musical surroundings and said he's on the verge of chucking his career. It went like this:

"I'm going to write for one more year and turn in all my songs and let it go where it may. Then, I'm going to split this town and live a little. I'll probably go to the (South Sea) islands."

"Competition is wrong. It shouldn't have any place in music. When I first came here, I gave my all for everybody. I hung out at the right places and paid my dues."

"But when I wanted to do something that was really me, all the publishers turned their backs."

"Any time money is the end of a musical product, it's immediately screwed up."

"I don't have the temperament a lot of these guys do. I used to be real enthusiastic and energetic. You know, I've been through seven publishers and made money for all of them."

"People say I'm uncooperative and that I'm a risk. You know what I think? I think they don't want to understand me."

Moments later, he was asked to consider compromising with publishers on his gutsy musical style.

"Compromise?" he said. "If that's what an artist is all about, then I don't care about being one."

"There's things I could dig more in life — like nature, children and easy times."

"Music-wise, I know I can write and sing. Whether I got anything to offer in the way of a marketable product is another matter."

After the interview, Gantry appeared on stage for another set. He began playing, but the audience was still restless from the brief intermission and chatted in a low tone. Gantry appeared offended.

"Look man," he told the audience. "How can I really play if y'all keep talking? Now either you can split or I'll split. But let's get on with it one way or the other."

The crowd quieted, fast. And, once the initial shock eased off, they fixed their eyes on the dynamic performer — partly out of politeness but mostly out of awe with his music, which he started writing at age 15.

"It bothers me a lot when they talk," Gantry said of the small group. "They don't know better."

His best-known song is the one he dislikes the most, "Dreams of the Everyday Housewife."

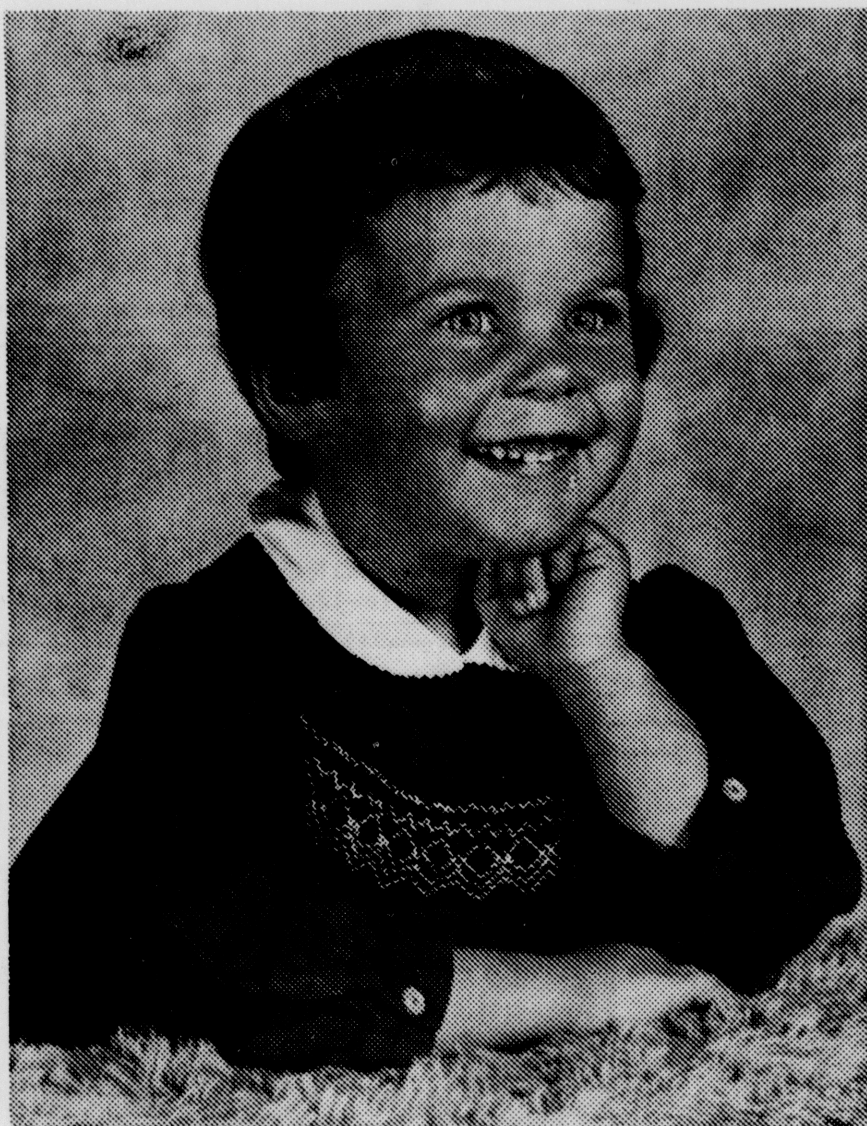

"It did me a lot of good," he said, "but I hate it. It's too commercial."

Other tunes he's written, which have met moderate success, include "Sundown Mary," and "Atlanta, Ga., Stray."

At present, Gantry is writing for "The House of Cash," made famous by entertainer Johnny Cash. He says he's writing for Cash for no pay, apparently keeping in line with his conviction that money should not be the primary goal of a songwriter.

His confidence in himself remains undaunted, though. "In my head I know I've made it where it counts," he said. "I say to myself, 'You were there as much as anybody was. But you didn't do the so-called right thing at the right time.'"

Safety of atomic plants promoted

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Atomic power systems have caused less damage to human health and the environment than plants operated on coal and other fossil fuels, a nuclear scientist says.

The assertion was made by Dr. Alvin Weinberg, director of Oak Ridge (Tenn.) National Laboratory, at a briefing on Tuesday on New Horizons in Science, sponsored by the Council for the Advancement of Science Writing. "A properly operating nuclear power plant and its subsystems is as innocuous a thermal power plant as man has ever devised," Weinberg told the national gathering of science writers.

A play entitled, "Leader's Dilemma," showed how to conduct Bluebird and Camp Fire programs, make plans and do craft work. The program also spelled out office procedures and awarding of honors. It was presented by Mrs. Fred James, awards chairman.

Leaders present for the sessions were Mrs. Betty Beatty, Mrs. Rollo Marchant, Mrs. Joseph Lutz, Mrs. William Whaley Jr., Mrs. Ralph Tate, Mrs. Gary Cartwright, Mrs. Lindy Walker, Mrs. Kay Butcher, Mrs. J. R. Sheppard, Mrs. Lee Dixon, Mrs. Herbert Satterfield, Mrs. Carl Brady; Dissolve Kidney Stones? Well...

I tend to develop kidney stones. Anyone who has ever had this knows how painful the condition is.

Is there any new way of dissolving these stones rather than wait until they pass into the urine?

Mr. I.R.F., Ky

Dear Mr. F.: Some experimental work has been done with the use of methylene blue to dissolve certain kinds of kidney stones. There is not universal agreement that this and other methods for dissolving stones are completely effective.

I agree there are few more painful conditions than a stone passing from the kidney through the tiny tube, the ureter, into the bladder.

It is most important, therefore, during an interval free of pain, that the basic condition should be thoroughly investigated.

Many kidney stones are composed of uric acid rather than calcium. Gout or a gouty tendency may be responsible for repeated attacks of uric acid kidney stones.

X-ray studies with dyes of the entire genito-urinary tract can reveal reasons why you are prone to these painful experiences.

Studies of the blood's chemistry help in the better understanding of why kidney stones are formed.

Miss Sue Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wright, of Jamestown, a graduate of Miami Trace High School in 1964 and of Wilmington College in 1968, is now a teacher of special classes of 6th, 7th and 8th grades at Locust Street School in Wilmington. She recently returned from the University of Colorado in Boulder where she commenced an in-service training program designed by biologists and classroom teachers from across the country.

This training will enable her to test-teach a science curriculum designed especially for special classes by Biological Science Curriculum Study, of which William V. Mayer is director.

This curriculum has been treated in a scientific manner but is geared to the individual student in a creative and motivating way to induce learning.

Miss Wright was selected along with 20 other teachers from 200 applicants throughout the U.S. and Canada. Wilmington is the only city in the state of Ohio taking part in this study.

Educator Rotary guest

James Hof, vice president of Bowling Green State University, said he is convinced that much of the lack of restraint and "far out" tendencies among college students today can be traced to parental guidance through elementary and high school days. He pointed out that parents have been more permissive in recent years and that attitudes resulting from this are reflected by student behavior in college.

Speaking at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday in the Country Club, Hof insisted that most students go to college to get an education and that only a few militants, who receive the publicity, give a wrong impression of the whole. He conceded, however, that there is room for improvement of the behavior of some students.

At Bowling Green, he said, visitation by both boys and girls is permitted 24 hours a day in some dormitories while at others it is not. He said the choice is up to the students — and, presumably their parents. Many, he noted, prefer the restrictions. He conceded there probably have been some abuses of the "coeducational" dormitories, but he said that for the most part there have been no problems.

Bill Pool, a graduate of Bowling Green, was the program chairman and gave the background of the speaker. The meeting was conducted by President Fred Domenico.

Students guests were Jeff Downs, of WSHS, and Roger Duff, of MTHS.

Guests were Richard R. Willis with William E. Williams; Lowell Fichner with Richard E. Whiteside; and the Rev. Gerald Wheat with Perse Harlow.

Visiting Rotarians were Charles Pitts, of London, and Ed Pennington, of Mount Sterling.

CBS cancels 2 comedies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — CBS will cancel two situation comedies, add a new detective show and shift the time periods of five other shows at mid-season.

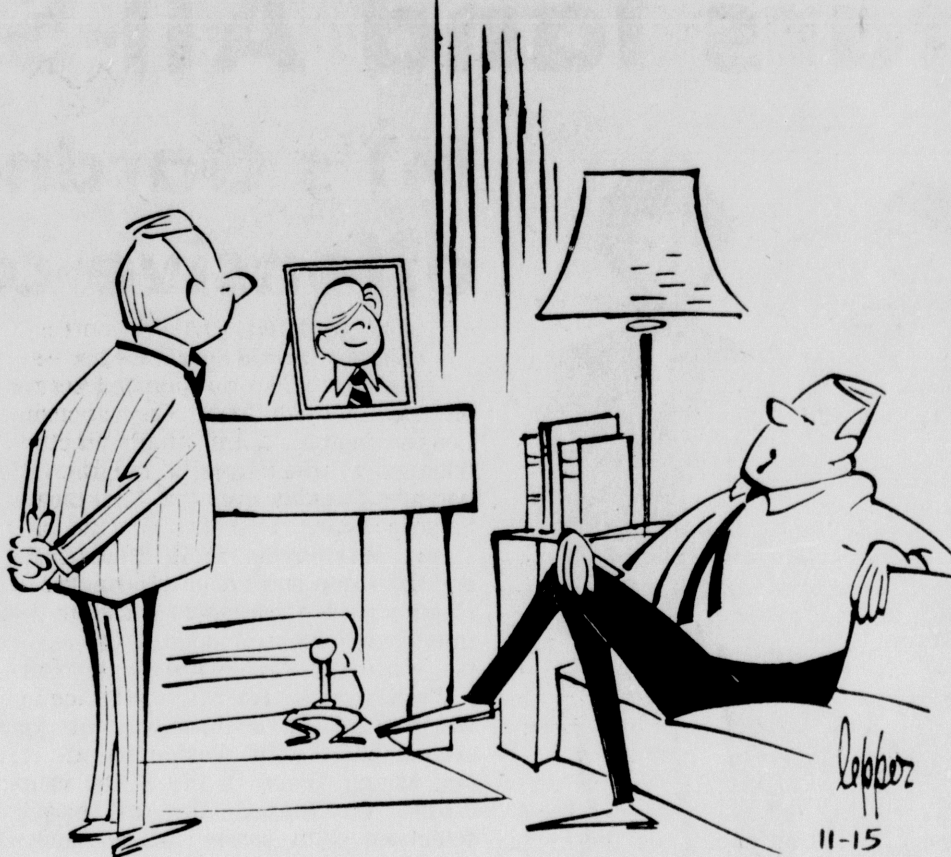

Robert D. Wood, president of the CBS Television Network, said Monday "The Sandy Duncan Show" and "Anna and the King," which stars Yul Brynner in the role he created on Broadway and in the movies, will be dropped.

An hour-long detective show, starring Buddy Ebsen and tentatively called "Barnaby Cobb," will premiere at 9:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 28. Ebsen previously starred in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

"Mannix" will move up to 8:30 p.m. Sunday and "The New Dick Van Dyke Show" to 7:30 p.m. Sunday on Jan. 27.

"The Carol Burnett Show," "Sonny and Cher" and "Mission: Impossible" will make a three-way switch of time periods. The Burnett show goes to Saturday at 10 p.m. on Dec. 16, "Sonny and Cher" to Wednesday at 8 p.m. on Dec. 20 and "Mission: Impossible" to Friday at 8 p.m. on Dec. 22.

Open lead - eight of spades. Dear Mr. Becker: A fellow can dream, can't he? Well, I have had this hand on my mind for a long time, and if it ever comes up with me holding the West cards, I have the perfect remedy to stop South from making three notrump.

I realize there is very little chance of my ever encountering this particular layout. I know that if I played bridge every single day for the next billion years or two the odds would still be against this exact setup taking place.

But if lightning ever does strike and I am around to witness it, you will find me Johnny-on-the-spot when it comes to taking charge of the operation.

South is in three notrump and, since I always have faith in partners, I lead a spade, the suit my dear partner has bid. This brings forth the jack from East, and declarer, who has no idea I have a singleton spade, ducks.

My partner continues with the king and South decides to win the trick with the ace, forcing me to find a suitable discard.

It is clear to me at this point, for some reason I do not understand, that unless I discard correctly, declarer will make nine tricks consisting of a spade, four hearts, a diamond and three clubs.

But since this is the hand I have been dreaming of all these years, I have no trouble finding the right discard. When South takes his ace of spades, I discard the ace of hearts on it!

South may now huff and puff, or sweat and strain, but it will get him absolutely nowhere. He can no longer make the grade.

I hope that some day this hand will really be dealt to me. Cordially yours, Constant Reader.

Set Nebraska safety day

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The state of Nebraska, which on an average November day records 129 traffic accidents, aims to get through the day Wednesday without a reportable mishap on its 98,763 miles of streets and highways.

Gov. J. James Exon has designated the day as "Super Safety Day," and for several weeks, newspapers and broadcasters have joined in a publicity buildup, coupled with safe driving tips.

The accident-free day, if realized, would save some $400,000 in accident costs, statisticians report. Over the past three years, the average daily November traffic toll has been 129 accidents, 56 injuries and 1.5 deaths.

A reportable traffic accident in Nebraska is one resulting in death or injury, or in which property damage exceeds $100.

Marion workers return to posts

MARION, Ohio (AP) — City service and sanitation workers returned to their jobs Tuesday night and today to end a brief sick-call strike.

The walkout by 70 members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees had left Marion without full fire protection, emergency ambulance service and garbage collections most of Tuesday. The workers agreed to return following a meeting with a state union representative and after Mayor Don Quaintance reportedly promised to take their wage and benefit demands before city council.

The protest began after council failed to take any action on the demands at a meeting Monday night.

Nebraska this year will reach an all-time high prompted the Super Safety Day promotion.

10 county stars land All-SCOL berths

MT's Gardner Cobb offensive captain

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Ten Fayette Countyans landed berths on the 1972 All-South Central Ohio League football team which was announced at the league's annual fall banquet Tuesday night at Washington Senior High School.

Five Washington C. H. Blue Lions and the same number of Miami Trace Panthers were named to the elite 27-man team which included 16 offensive players and 11 defensive performers.

Wilmington's Hurryin' Hurricane, which ended in a three-way tie for second place with Washington C. H. and Miami Trace in the SCOL standings, dominated the all-league selections with seven, while newly-crowned champion Circleville had six, and Greenfield and Hillsboro two apiece.

GARDNER COBB, Miami Trace's 6-foot-3, 205-pound senior strongboy, was named honorary captain of a 16-man offensive team by the six member coaches. Four other Panthers were selected to the offensive squad as Miami Trace failed to land a defensive all-star.

Tony Grooms, who rushed for 1,407 yards in nine games this year, was named to the offensive backfield while senior aerial artist Pete Jones was one of two quarterbacks picked. Jeff Spears was one of two split ends named to the dream team and Glenn Gifford won a spot on the team as a flanker.

Cobb, Grooms, Spears and Gifford, all catalysts in Miami Trace's fifty 7-3 season, were All-SCOL choices a year ago.

Washington C. H. had four players on the offensive team. Mike Domenico, the Blue Lions' team captain, was the offensive center and junior Garth Cox landed honors as a guard. Mark Johnson, another junior, joined Gifford as one of three flankers named and junior Chuck Wilson, the SCOL's top pointmaker, was one of the running backs.

John Sanderson, a 6-foot-4, 275-pound Blue Lion junior, was the lone Fayette County griddier to be named to the elite defensive team. Buddy Kennedy, of Greenfield, was named the honorary defensive captain.

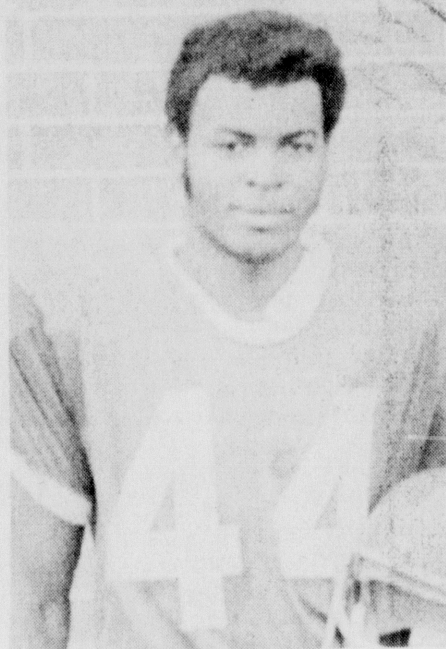

Seven Miami Trace players and five Blue Lions received honorable mention accolades.

FRED JONES, principal at Washington Senior High School, welcomed the guests and Maurice Pfeifer, Washington C. H.'s head football coach, delivered the invocation. Paul Sarchet, principal at Circleville High School and president of the SCOL, introduced the guests.

Entertainment was provided by the WSHS choir, under the direction of Charles L. Shaffer. Presentation of trophies and awards was handled by Sarchet and Jones, and Larry Cook, head coach at Circleville, accepted the coveted gold football, emblematic of an unbeaten SCOL season.

Gary Keller, principal at Wilmington High School, introduced WHIO-TV sports director Tom Hamlin who was the featured speaker. Keller also delivered announcements and Jon Creamer, assistant football coach at Washington C. H., gave the benediction.

CHUCK WILSON

Wilson grabs SCOL grid scoring crown

Chuck Wilson, the Washington C. H. Blue Lions' junior tailback, captured the 1972 South Central Ohio League football scoring championship in a tight race with defending champion Tony Grooms, of Miami Trace.

Wilson, a 5-foot-11, 172-pounder, scored three touchdowns and an extra point in Washington C.H.'s finale against Hamilton Township to push his 10-game season total to 122 points and nudge Grooms by a mere two points.

Grooms, who nursed an ouchy ankle during Miami Trace's game with Hillsboro, scored 120 points on the basis of 20 touchdowns in nine games. The classy senior tailback won last year's scoring crown with 126 points on the basis of 21 touchdowns.

Wilson and Grooms, who were both named to the All-SCOL offensive backfield, ended the season with identical 1,407 rushing totals. Grooms picked up 1,407 on 178 rushes in nine games while Wilson carried the pigskin 273 times for the 1,407-yard figure.

Jackie Watson, Wilmington's rushing demon, landed in third place with 68 points while Miami Trace wingback Glenn Gifford vaulted to the fourth place spot with two touchdowns against Madison Plains to end the campaign with 60 points.

Washington C. H. junior wingback Mark Johnson was fifth with 52 points while Jeff Spears, of Miami Trace, and Dave Truex, of Circleville, deadlocked for sixth with 48 points each.

Cincinnati Princeton fails to be awed by Massillon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "We might go right after the top dog at the start," says Cincinnati Princeton football Coach Pat Mancuso.

Mancuso isn't awed sending his third-rated team against top-ranked Massillon in a Class AAA state high school semifinal contest Saturday.

"We have all the respect in the world for Massillon, but we think we belong on the same field with them," the coach of 9-0-1 Princeton maintains.

Massillon, The Associated Press state champion for a 13th time, carries a 10-0-0 record into the 11 a.m. game in mammoth Ohio Stadium.

In the second contest in the giant 4-year-old mare sold for $160,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A 4-year-old mare, Polygon, brought the highest price of the Keeneland Breeding Stock Sale Tuesday night.

Fontainebleu Farm paid $160,000 for the daughter of Never Bend out of Polly Girl, in foal to Le Fabuleux. She was sold by Normandy Farm as agent.

The sale continues today with two sessions and with continuous sessions Thursday and Friday.

horseshoe, second-rated Warren Western Reserve (10-0-0) and No. 7 Toledo Scott (8-1-0) play at 2 p.m.

Commissioner Harold Meyer of the governing Ohio High School Athletic Association forecasts a crowd of 30,000 for the doubleheader. The victors advance to the big school title game Saturday night, Nov. 25, in Akron's Rubber Bowl.

The Massillon-Princeton meeting matches two of the state's premier tailbacks, Mike Gayles of the Cincinnati school and Tom Hannon of the Stark County powerhouse.

Gayles has darted for 1,797 yards, 28 touchdowns and 174 points, breaking the school records of Willie Asbury, who later played for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Hannon, with 94 points and 1,236 yards, was the scoring and rushing leader in the rugged All-American Conference this fall.

"The only difference between the two," says Mancuso, "is that Gayles is quicker and Hannon is niftier and shifter."

Massillon, which needs one triumph for No. 500 in its storied history, will be a marked target as Ohio's No. 1 team. Coach Bob Commings isn't worried, however.

Cincinnati Swords turn back Robins, 8-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Swords, with an 11-6 mark, are now tied for the lead in the Western Division of the American Hockey League with the Virginia Red Wings.

Hamlin finds old buddy

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Two old schoolboy buddies met again Tuesday night at the South Central Ohio League's annual fall banquet held at Washington Senior High School.

Tom Hamlin, WHIO-TV sports director who was the featured speaker at the banquet, and Bill Mount, 153 Carolyn Rd., received the opportunity to talk over the days gone by following Tuesday's fete.

Mount, who is president of the Washington C. H. Blue Lions' football boosters club, and the popular sports announcer were reared on neighboring farms in Warren County.

IN FACT Hamlin and Mount were members of the Carlisle High School basketball team during Mount's senior year in 1940.

Hamlin, who graduated from Carlisle High School in 1942 and later received a bachelor of arts degree in journalism from Ohio Wesleyan University, was an avid sports enthusiast even in his schoolboy days, according to Mount, who had not seen Hamlin in over 10 years prior to the SCOL banquet.

Hamlin, who has been in the sports-casting field for 22 years, related with the banquet crowd several of his personal experiences he has encountered in his sports coverage.

The popular announcer, who admits a close association with high school athletics, like most other sports scribblers and squabblers gets upset with the fans.

He related one incident when the Dayton Flyers were playing Providence in a NCAA basketball game at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

It seemed Dayton had jumped to a comfortable halftime lead which prompted Hamlin to say, "the Flyers are the darlings of the fans here tonight." Dayton later dropped a 14-point decision to Providence and Hamlin received a letter from a disgruntled Greenville fan.

The letter said, "What did you mean? Dayton is not even the darling of the fans here in Greenville you big dumb hillbilly!"

Hamlin told the audience he fears that high school athletics are suffering from imitation. He related an incident at Middletown when Glenn (Tiger) Ellison was hard-pressed with a sagging football program.

It seemed Ellison, a former freshman coach at Ohio State, felt that it was Paul Walker's (the head basketball coach) fault. The town was basketball crazy and the turnout was poor for football during the mid-1950s when the Middies were a cage powerhouse.

WITH ALL the town in a daze of the basketball magic, Ellison adopted what he called a "run-and-shoot" or "lonesome polecat offense." Ellison taught the players to concentrate on pass receiving and the team rolled over several unbeaten and perennial Ohio toughies.

Hamlin unanimously supports the Ohio High School Athletic Association's new computerized football rating system, despite noting a few of its flaws. "This system of playoffs is better than none," he noted.

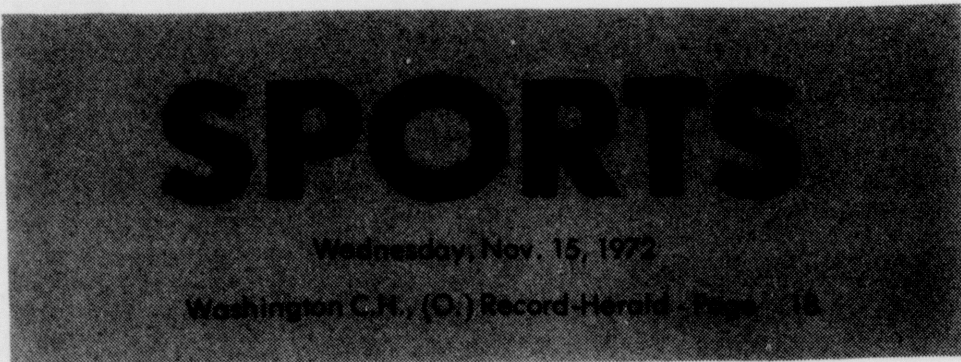

Hamlin predicted that the sports spotlight in large cities such as Dayton will shift to soccer and other less-noted activities in the near future.

Gary Keller, secretary-treasurer of the SCOL, announced that the league wrestling meet will be held Feb. 17 at Circleville. The SCOL coaches will meet Feb. 18 at WSHS to select the All-SCOL basketball team and the banquet is set for Feb. 21 at Miami Trace.

He also announced the annual sportsmanship award will be presented following the upcoming basketball season. Washington C. H. was the 1971-72 winner.

Jack Ham selected tops on defense

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jack Ham admits he watched in wide-eye amazement as the Kansas Chiefs took the field.

"Gez they were huge," recalled the relatively small 220-pound linebacker for the Pittsburgh Steelers. "I saw them running across the field in pregame introductions and they looked like giants."

Nonetheless, Jack was indeed a giant killer as he helped Pittsburgh to a 16-7 victory over the Chiefs Sunday and earned recognition as the Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Dick Allen wins MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Broad-shouldered Dick Allen, the muscle of the Chicago White Sox' offense, was named today the American League's Most Valuable Player of 1972.

Allen won the coveted prize in a landslide vote from the Baseball Writers Association of America, receiving 21 out of a possible 24 first-place votes.

The White Sox's star first baseman, who slugged a league-leading 37 home runs and knocked in a career-high 113 runs, won the trophy easily over outfielder Joe Rudi of the World Champion Oakland A's.

Allen, playing in his first year in the American League after several years in the National, was the only player named on all 24 ballots. He finished with a total of 321 points, just 15 points shy of a perfect score, while runner-up Rudi collared 164.

Rudi, the A's leading hitter with a

.305 average, was named on 22 of 24 ballots.

Sparky Lyle, the left-handed relief ace of the New York Yankees, who saved 35 games and won nine during the 1972 season, finished third in the voting with 158 points.

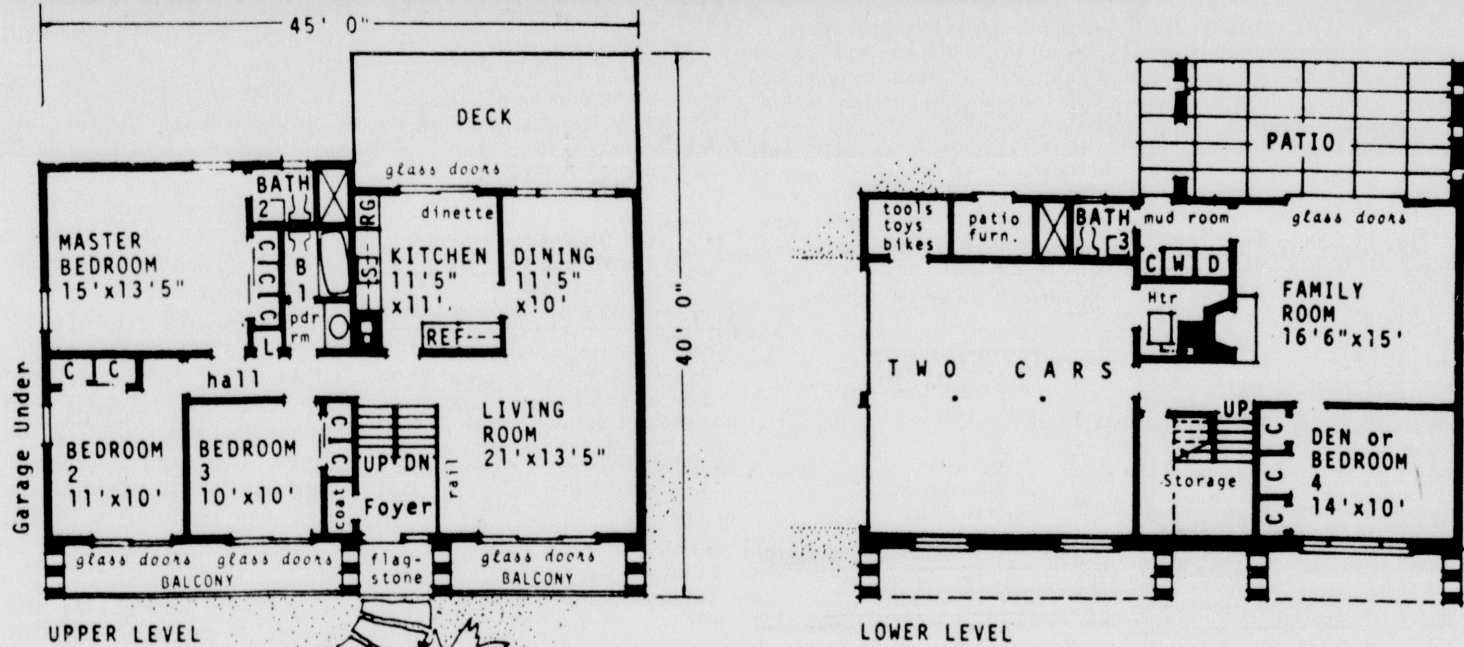

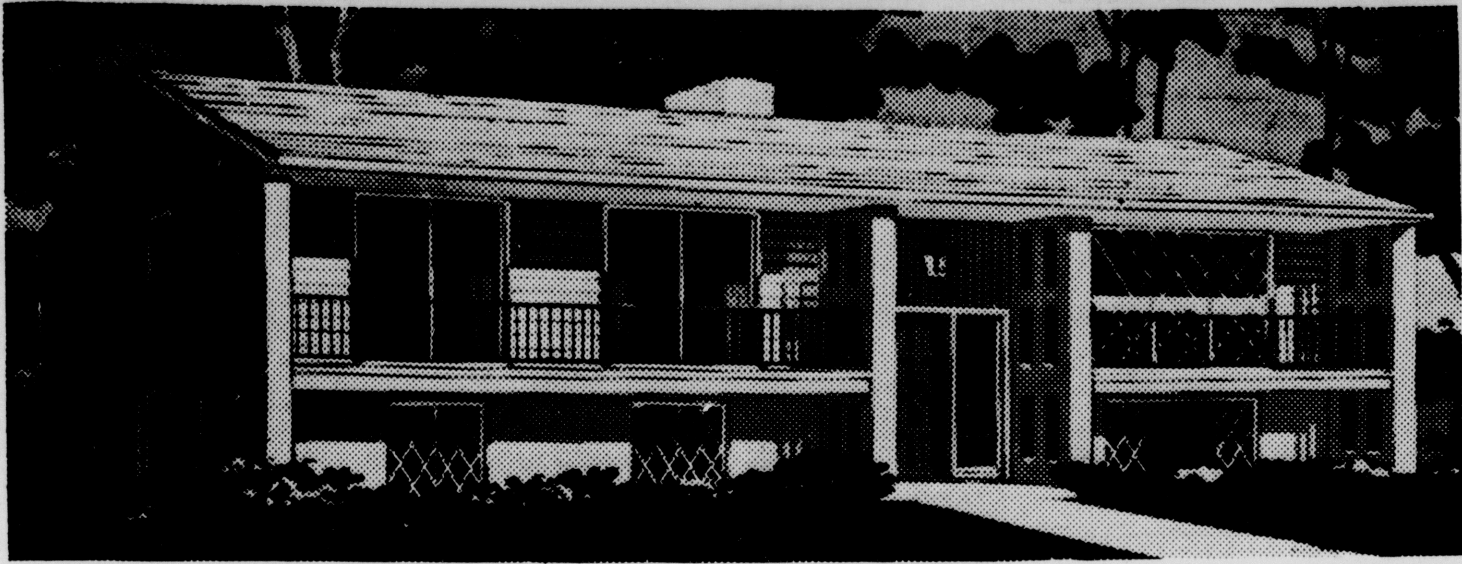

Allen, Rudi, Lyle and pitcher Mickey Lolich of the Detroit Tigers, who finished 10th with 60 points, were the only players to receive first-place votes. Rudi, Lyle and Lolich got one each.

After the 1-2-3 finishers, the rest of the top ten MVP players were: catcher Carlton Fisk of the Boston Red Sox; outfielder Bobby Murcer of the New York Yankees; Cleveland pitcher Gaylord Perry; pitcher Luis Tiant of Boston; shortstop Ed Brinkman of Detroit's Eastwinning Tigers and Lolich.

Allen is only the second White Sox player to win the award. Nellie Fox

The varieties of plywood are almost endless, but none is a synthetic product, as some persons are inclined to think.

Webster puts it this way: "A structural material consisting of wood glued or cemented together with the grains of adjacent layers arranged at right angles or at a wide angle."

The key word there is "wood." But it would take several pages of any dictionary to delve into the many types, classes and grades of plywood. The most common kind of plywood is Douglas fir, which is what you get when you walk into a lumber yard and buy a piece of 4 by 8 plywood without giving any specifications. It is strong, has a wide range of applications and is the least expensive.

When you want plywood for a special purpose, tell the dealer what that purpose is. This is especially important if you intend to use the plywood outdoors where it will be continually exposed to the elements. In that case, you will need exterior plywood, which has completely waterproof glue between the veneers. Interior plywood is highly moisture resistant but the bond is not 100 per cent waterproof. Also, the veneers used in the inner plys may be of lower grade than those in the exterior type. But interior plywood may be used anywhere it will not be subject to continuing moisture conditions or extreme humidity.

Sheets of plywood have all kinds of markings on them. Here is what a few of them mean:

A-A — For applications where both sides of the plywood will be on view.

A-B — For applications similar to A-A but where the appearance of one side is less important yet two smooth solid surfaces are necessary.

A-C or A-D — Where the appearance of only one side is important.

B-B — Has solid surfaces but generally used where the plywood will be painted rather than given a clear finish.

B-C or B-D — For use as utility panels.

Plywood comes in both softwood and hardwood, the softwood — pine, Douglas fir, spruce, poplar, etc. — being the big seller. Hardwood-faced plywood is more expensive generally, but is distinguished for the beauty of its grain and color. It has four common grades, 1 to 4, the lower the number the higher the over-all appearance and quality.

Many plywood sheets have various kinds of special finishes, including hardboard surfaces, striations, grooves and plastic coats. It is safe to say that there is a plywood for every possible use.

(Patching plaster and concrete, eliminating sweating windows and walls, and fixing squeaky floors and stairs are among the 35 subjects in Andy Lang's helpful handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

CAMERA Angles

BY IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

No account of Photokina, the world's most influential photo fair, is complete without dropping a few names. An important event, sometimes, is more vivid in your memory because of people met there. So, mention 1972 Photokina and I recall Lord Snowdon and his assignments, Ernst Haas and his "Creation," Phil Leonian and his "motion picture" shooting with a still camera, Ben Zar and his can't-get-lost lens cap, David Douglas Duncan just being there, Peter Gowland and his glamor and Sid Holtz, a publisher who became speechless.

Under the title of Lord Snowdon and beyond the excitement of his marriage to Princess Margaret, there's the continuing enthusiasm of photographer Anthony Armstrong - Jones. This was evident at the retrospective exhibit of about 500 photographs he has taken in the past 20 years for British (principally and American publications. Lord Snowdon arrived more than a week prior to the opening to supervise personally the Photokina display, an indication of its importance to him. He issued instructions to regulate the number of spectators allowed to enter his exhibit area to ensure comfortable viewing. It was a wise precaution for it became a popular attraction. His subject matter included theater and ballet stars, handicapped children, mental patients, the elderly and visits to India, Japan and Peru. Like his title, Lord Snowdon's photography has distinction.

Ernst Haas found inspiration in the Bible. He brought forth symbolic images to illustrate the first words of Genesis: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." From Haas's book, "The Creation," 48 beautiful color prints convey the simple but powerful message.

One day, Phil Leonian and I shared a mutual stop-and-go route through several of the big halls in the Cologne fairgrounds. He's a talented New York freelancer, experimenter and contributing editor to Camera 35 magazine. Before our paths eventually diverged, he dazzled me with his slow-motion shooting and panning while walking with a still camera.

"These are transparencies," he said in answer to my puzzled look. "They will be rephotographed on movie film. When projected as a short movie segment, it'll look like a collage of a movie chase through Photokina. It's an idea I'm working on." I'm still puzzled but I bet it works.

In a quieter moment, I shared a bench with Ben Zar, an Army career man and photographer, recently retired. There was a string dangling from the lens cap of the camera around his neck.

"What's that for?" I asked.

"Ever lose a lens cap?" he countered.

"Many!" I answered.

"Well, I can't lose this one," he said, "See . . ." He removed the lens cap and let it drop. It dangled from the string tied to his camera case. The end of the short string went through a tiny hole in the lens cap and was knotted. It's a simple, practical idea not in the official catalog.

David Douglas Duncan usually turns up wherever the action is in photography so it wasn't too surprising to see him at Photokina. He was in the appreciative audience at the award ceremonies at which the 1972 cultural prize went to Ernst Haas.

I found Peter Gowland, America's glamor photographer, during one of my random wanderings. He was demonstrating his Gowlandflex cameras and showing sets of his glamor slides. He had designed and built a Gowlandflex camera — which looks like an oversize twin-lens Rolleiflex — in 1956 to achieve candid quality with large-size film. It takes all film sizes up to 4 x 5 and 5 x 7 in roll and sheet film, 70mm and 90mm. This encounter in Germany was my first meeting with America's foremost specialist in glamor photography.

Sid Holtz, publisher of Popular Photography and annuals, planned to set a record getting out the first Photokina magazine report: his 10-man staff would write all their stories in five days and he'd fly back with the copy ready for the printers. He was explaining the arrangements to me between proceedings at an official lunch when suddenly his name was called out. He was literally stunned speechless until he could utter, "Who, me?" He was propelled to the dais to receive a coveted "Golden Eye" of Photokina, an award given to a small, selected group. Presuming that he recovered from the shock and the honor, the first detailed report in Popular photography should be out soon.

GLAMORLAND, USA, is Gowland country — Peter Gowland of Santa Monica, Calif. — shown here presenting some of his famous pretty girl slides at Photokina in Cologne, Germany.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Alistair Cooke's "America" has made its debut on the NBC Television network and sympathy is herewith extended to anyone who missed it.

But don't worry. There still are 12 more episodes. Tuesday night's opening effort, while only the warmup, was wry, fact-filled and beautifully photographed. I didn't think they made that kind anymore.

Most American history series on television tend to have a minimum of interesting fact and a maximum of schoolboy fluff. They often try to bluff their way through with banjo music and frequent renditions of "Stars and Stripes Forever."

There's none of that in Cooke's tour of America. In fact, his first show dealt with this nation's existence before it had a flag.

It moved briskly and literately from 15,000 B.C. to the Indian tribes that first inhabited the Americas, and then on to Christopher Columbus' voyage to the New World and those who followed him.

Cooke frequently stopped along the tour to note some little-known facts—Columbus' sailors were issued two liters of wine per man each day—and a sardonic observation: "This, I suppose, was to keep them philosophical if things took a turn for the worst."

He covered in detail the treatment of Indians by the Spanish conquistadors, noting in one case that those whom the Spaniards failed to convert to Christianity either were thrown to the dogs or "flogged into devotion to the Carpenter of Nazareth."

Cooke also spent considerable time tracing the French influence on this country, pausing at such unlikely places as St. Genevieve, Mo., once a settlement devoted exclusively to the mining of lead for France.

He nicely summed up New Orleans' link to its French heritage by observing that tourists to that city still feel almost "an obligation to abjure the hot dog for the snail" at dinner time.

His one-hour tour ended at Jamestown, Va., one of the first English settlements in this country.

It'll resume there on Nov. 28 in an episode devoted to Jamestown and other English settlements in America. Subsequent episodes will range from the making of a nation to "The Arsenal," a look at the American way of war from the flintlock to the Strategic Air Command.

The last segment, "The Old Order Changeth," is a look at America today, a summing up of what Cooke feels has been fulfilled and what betrayed in the experience of the United States.

The entire series is sponsored by the Xerox Corp., which has the wisdom to use just four commercials per show. There are two at the beginning, two at the end. Would that every institutional advertiser did this.

We also wish that every network that tries to explain America had a Cooke in the house. After Tuesday night's show, it's probable they do, too.

'Silent' gonorrhea infection among servicemen feared

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A team of doctors has reported evidence suggesting that appreciable numbers of troops returning from Vietnam may have "silent" undetected gonorrhea that could have national implications unless the men are found and treated.

Indeed, the doctors told a scientific meeting Monday, it is possible that much of an already noted increasing resistance of gonorrhea germs in the United States to antibiotic wonder drugs has been due to "importation of resistant strains" by Vietnam returnees whose own transmissible infection was overlooked because they showed no symptoms.

The doctors recommended that all Vietnam returnees be screened by a new test they devised for diagnosing "silent" gonorrhea.

The doctors—of the University of Washington, Seattle, and the Army's Madigan General Hospital, Tacoma, Wash.—made their report to the centennial meeting of the American Public Health Association.

They did so in reporting evidence from limited studies of both civilians and military men that "asymptomatic" gonorrhea apparently is much more prevalent among males than previously thought. They defined asymptomatic gonorrhea as a gonorrhea infection which produces no symptoms in the male or female infected but may produce active disease if transmitted sexually.

The team, headed by Dr. H. Hunter Handsfield of the University of Washington, said of the latter findings:

"Traditionally, it has been assumed that gonorrhea produces a symptomatic disease in men and (an) asymptomatic infection in women. This has produced the corollary assumption that the principal reservoir of gonococcal infection in the community is the silent female carrier. Consequently, a great deal of effort is expended toward tracing these asymptomatic women."

The doctors reported finding, by a special diagnostic test, a "high prevalence" of asymptomatic gonorrhea among a small group of civilian men known to have been exposed to infected women.

They also reported testing 2,000 Vietnam returnees who were undergoing routine physical examinations at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and at Madigan Hospital immediately prior to discharge from the Army.

Right whales acquired their name because their rich store of blubber and whalebone made them the "right" whales to harpoon. Now an endangered species, the few surviving right whales are protected under a covenant signed by 14 countries. Outlaw whalers and nations that haven't signed the pact continue to hunt them.
